WE NOMINATE

John Merrill Knapp, a resiliently able educator, musician and musicologist, who this week gave McCarter Theater and this community a tremendous lift with the American premiere of Handel's seldom-performed, and lengthy, opera, "Imeneo." While the world of music and its analysts (see Music in Princeton, page 15) may well remain long divided on the work's merits and its ridiculously thin "story," the fact remains that Princeton University's "singing Dean," on the threshold of his 51st birthday and in his 17th year as conductor of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs, was responsible for a significant event in the development of American music.

Monday evening's brave production, sponsored by the Princeton Symphony as the finale in its annual concert series and attracting an overflow audience described by one McCarter impresario as a "cold sell-out," was a high point in Knapp's career as a scholar-teacher. An authority in early 18th Century music, with a special interest in Handel, he had come upon the "Imeneo" libretto in uncatalogued mounds of materials in the National Library of Scotland and foresaw therein the possibilities of reviving public interest in Handel through a Princeton performance which would capitalize upon the plethora of local talent, including the Princeton Chamber Orchestra.

Like so many of the country's successful educational administrators, Knapp, the sixth Princeton faculty member to serve as Dean of the College since the post was created in 1909, has made a practice of combining "deaning" with teaching and research. Late on Monday, for instance, an hour or so before the McCarter curtain rose for "Imeneo," representing for Knapp a lifelong dream of "conducting a professional orchestra and professional singers in an opera in which I have a scholarly interest," the Princeton faculty was voting in solemn conclave on curricular revisions proposed by Knapp and his associates on the Committee on the Course of Study.

A member of the Princeton Faculty for almost two decades, a World War II naval veteran with combat service aboard a submarine chaser and destroyer escort, and today a trustee of Westminster Choir College and of both The Hun and Hotchkiss Schools, the Manhattan-born Knapp was twice Acting Chairman of the Department of Music in its formative years in the 1950's. He served an exacting apprenticeship as Assistant Dean of the College from 1955 through 1959, relinquished his administrative responsibilities in the latter year to return to full-time teaching and research, and was "summoned back" to Nassau Hall in the latter year as the chief academic officer for the College.

After receiving his bachelor's degree in 1936 from Yale, where he presided over the Wiffenpoofs as well as the "Yale Dramat" and University Glee Club and also found time to understudy two of Yale's stand-out football ends of modern times, Larry Kelley and "Choo-Choo" Train, Knapp taught history in California's Thacher School and worked as a reporter for the "San Francisco Chronicle." A part-time assignment as assistant director of the Yale Glee Club was followed by two years of graduate study at Columbia, an academic year at Princeton and the four-year interlude in service preceding his initial Princeton faculty appointment.

For his efforts, in the eyes of one observer, to place Princeton on "the musical map of America"; for ever seeking to make it possible for many to become acquainted at first hand with great works of music; for effectively integrating all of the elements which constitute "Music in Princeton"; he is our nominee as

WHAT DO WE GET?

What Do You Give? "How much money does a United Fund agency need? Well, how much service does it give to this community?"

"That's where we start when we begin to listen to our United Fund agencies when they present their budgets to us," said William Coley, director of the United Fund this week, as the Fund's Budget Committee waded into its annual series of hearings.

The Fund's 1965 campaign goal will not be set until all the budgets have been nailed down and totaled. "We want to assure the potential giver that his gift will help make possible necessary social welfare services at a minimum cost," states a six-page "Rules of the Road" guide of politics and procedures, distributed to every agency.

Budget hearings are open to the public. They are held at 8 in the Borough Engineer's Building, Witherspoon Street, and those remaining will be held as follows:

YMCA - YWCA Building Management Committee, YMCA and Mental Health, this Thursday; Nursery School, Hightstown YMCA and Homemaker Service, next Tuesday; Retarded Children, Children's Home and Princeton Hospital, next Thursday and Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts on Tuesday, May 18.

Child Guidance, YWCA, Family Service and Visiting Nurse Association have already been held.

The Presentation. Each agency is tried by a jury of its peers; that is, an agency's director and its trustees lay out their account sheets before the 37 members of the United Fund Budget Committee who are Princeton area residents just like themselves — businessmen, housewives, doctors, engineers.

Some of them are probably affiliated with an agency themselves, because, as Mr. Coley puts it, "We try to pick an unbiased Budget Committee with a sincere interest in service agencies. The Committee isn't dictatorial — but it's got to justify its decisions, and so it asks each agency to cooperate, and most all of them do."

HOW MUCH SERVICE? That's the chief budget question at United Fund Budget Committee hearings. Max D. Blumenfeld, a member of the Budget Committee for five years, has been its chairman for two. "How to allocate?" is the question explored in "This Is Princeton."

The system starts with seven sub-committees made up of those 37 Budget Committee members. These smaller groups analyze each agency budget and send to the agency a list of questions based on the budget.

"We do this so that the agency can be prepared with answers and not feel that we're trying to be sneaky," Mr. Coley said.

This system can, however backfire: Family Service Agency representatives, presenting their budget Monday night, had not been given a prior list of questions, only an apology by the committee for the oversight.

All Questions, submitted or otherwise, are detailed and searching. "We find," said one Committee member, addressing the YWCA contingent on Thursday night, "that your estimated income from endowments is lower than last year's audit indicated — why?"

The YWCA representative said that some funds ware being held in reserve in case of emergency. The YWCA, which didn't realize that it had to declare all of its income, was referred to the "Policies and Procedures" manual mentioned above.

And the word "all" re-appears like a talisman throughout this publication and the "Budget Manual," an 11-page work-sheet for inexperienced volnnteer help. "All anticipated income . . . " "all expense items . . . " "all operating income from all sources . . . ."

In short, you can't keep anything hidden in the sugar bowl: sales of Girl Scout cookies, sales of Boy Scout light bulbs, money repaid to the Homemaker Service by somebody who made a toll telephone call, the ten cent cup of coffee sold at the "Y" snack bar.

Clients Pay, too. Fees, of course, enter into the budget of every agency: the money a mother pays to the YWCA for her toddler's swim class, or the sum paid to Princeton Hospital for that series of diagnostic X-rays.

However, many of the agencies on the social and welfare side, as opposed to the recreational, keep their fees low on purpose, sometimes to the consternation of Budget Committee members.

Family Service, which appeared before the Committee Monday night, showed $3,100 earned last year from clients' fees. A Budget Committee member suggested that the agency ought to strive for $10,000 a year in fees.

But agency representatives reminded him that Family Service's counselling is used heavily by lower income families and that only about half of these families can afford to pay anything at all.

Bookkeeping Problems. Another problem arises when agencies have state and county affiliations.

"How much service do they give to the Princeton area?" said Mr. Coley. "That's the yardstick we use to find out how much the agency is entitled to from us."

An organization like Child Guidance, for example, which presented its case Thursday night, must show how many service hours have been given to people actnally living in the Princeton area and how its state and county funds are allocated to people living here: on the basis of service to Princeton, or on the basis of population?

One Budget Committee member compared Child Guidance and Family Service fees, and the question arises, "Can the fees charged by one kind of agency be compared in fairness to the fees charged by an organization with quite a different orientation?"

constantly rising costs in mind, Mr. Coley sat down by himself one evening, and well after midnight, he had prepared a chart showing every agency in the United Fund, starting with 1960 and projecting to 1966.

It was charted to show trend and growth, total disbursements, total income from all sources, amount requested from the Fund, amount actually received from the Fund, total salaries for each year, costs of fringe benefits, percentage of growth.

"It was an eye-opener," Mr. Coley stated with pride. "You'd be surprised how some of these costs have shot up, almost without our knowing it — salaries, for example, have really jumped in some cases."

The question of growth is a serious one for the United Fund. A self-analysis, combined with an outside professional analysis, is now under way. One result will be to give a sharper picture of potential growth.

Almost every service organization wants to expand. Some, like Child Guidance, have waiting lists, and they need to expand to take care of people who need to be taken care of. Others, like Family Service, have moved into communities where their kind of service has never been available before. (Family Service has a new branch in Hightstown.)

This means additional staff members, additional expenses, but also, perhaps, additional fees and contributions. Will all these factors even out? (The United Fund never, never bails out an agency that goes in the red.)

The Adding Machine. When all the figures are in, the Budget Committee's members will go over them all, dollar by dollar, agency by agency. For three nights, the Committee will meet to discuss and to vote on each allocation.

Final budget recommendations are submitted in detail to the United Fund's Board of Trustees for review. Then the trustees will vote, and announce their final decision early in June. As a rule, Budget Committee recommendations are accepted.

If an agency is disappointed, it can have a hearing before the Fund's trustees and ask for re-consideration.

Said Mr. Coley, "The door is always open."

DOWN THE RIVER!

Rangers on 10-Day Trip. Fifteen boys will make a riverboat trip down the Manistee River in northern Michigan from July 23 to August 1, making the 90-mile trip with stopovers at various YMCAs on the way.

The boys, members of B Ranger Club at the YMCA, are Porter Eubank, Chris Whitehorne, Bill Mendez, James Young, Eric Wheeling, Tom Goodwyn, Charles Suydam, Tom Deering, Jon Paynter, Bill Reitze, James Wert, Richard Fairweather James Uhl, Bruce Wright and Lee Aldrich.

"Riverboats" are narrow boats 24 feet long with a capacity of four boys and gear. The Rangers will camp along the river bank.

Ranger C Unit will make a nine-day camping and canoeing trip to Nova Scotia, and Ranger A Unit will go west, spending six days on horseback in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado.

New boys may sign up for a five-day camping trip to the Catskills and a seven-day trip to Mt. Katahdin. Ranger Camp registrations are now being received by the YMCA.

THURMOND TO TALK

In McCosh Hall Address. Strom Thurmond, the recently-turned Republican Senator from South Carolina, will speak on a subject of national interest Thursday, May 13, at 7:30 in McCosh 10. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

The talk will be sponsored by the American Whig-Cliosophic Society. The address is part of the organization's bicentennial celebration.

Senator Thurmond, who was first elected in 1954, left the Democratic Party last September to support Barry Goldwater for the presidency. He is known for his stand of foreign policy and for criticizing the State Department for pursuing a "no-win" course in the cold war.

"YES" VOTE ANYWAY

But Attorney Objects. "You will be departing from the principles of the zoning ordinance if you approve this request," warned Gordon Griffin, Township attorney, as Township committee pondered on Monday night the request of Dr. E. Frederick Laschever to erect an office dwelling on North Harrison Street near the First Aid and Rescue Squad building.

"Each time the zoning ordinance is eroded, it becomes known in the community and more residents believe they can successfully apply for a variance," Mr. Griffin continued.

But Committee gave a unanimous "yes" vote to Dr. Laschever, anyway (thereby upholding the Zoning Board's recommendation), and suggested that Mr. Griffin and Gerald Breese, chairman of the Planing Board study the question together in its broader aspects.

Several professional men — doctors and dentists — already have office-dwellings in the Harrison — Franklin — Ewing neighborhood. It is a residential zone, and to have an office there, a doctor must obtain a special permit and establish a "home-office", probably a hold-over, Mr. Griffin suggested, from the days when doctors always practiced in their homes.

Who Lives Here? However, the attorney said that "the tail wags the dog" in many of these new set-ups, and frequently the "home" is only a cubicle in which a member of the doctor's staff lives.

"'Neighbors never object when these appeals are made," replied Mayor Carl C. Schafer, "and property values have risen when these buildings have gone into the neighborhood."

"It's actually a prudent land use," concurred Walter B. Foster. "The Shopping Center has changed the purely residential character of the area." And he moved the acceptance of the Zoning Board's favorable recommendation:

In the course of the discussion, Committeeman William L. Wilson reminded his colleagues that in October, 1964, a special Planning Board sub-committee had declined to recommend a rezoning of the area for professional use, and had suggested that the "home occupation" definition be retained.

The Zoing Board members, Russell Van Cleve and James G. Campbell Jr., were on that Planning Board sub-committee, Mr. Wilson said, and yet had recommended the special permit for Dr. Laschever.

"The Zoning Board has the power to 'bend the law,' " observed A. C. Reeves Hicks, representing Dr. Laschever, "whereas the Planning Board and Township Committee set broad policy."

"Township Committee wants to act in areas of broad policy and not spot by spot," said Mr. Wilson "and frankly, I'm a little restive about this."

With this restiveness in mind, Committee said "yes" and Committeeman John O. Green suggested the policy discussion between Mr. Griffin and Mr. Breese.

On Cherry Hill. Nobody objected, and Committee passed in two minutes an ordinance providing $22,500 to straighten out the "Z" curve — it's sharper than an "S" — on Cherry Hill Road.

Henry Avenue fared less well. Committee decided to shelve indefinitely any plans to widen and improve the street. No ordinace had ever been introduced — the matter had come before Committee last month on a suggestion from the Traffic Safety Committee.

Fifteen elms in the Township have been inoculated with Bidrin, in a continuing fight against disease. Township Engineer Frank Quinby said, in response to a question from Committee, that his department had abandoned tree spraying six years ago because the spray was harmful to wild life, and drifted on the wind into private homes.

He said, however that the chemical to be used in the forthcoming state campaign against gypsy moths was harmless. Except to gypsy moths, tent caterpillars, mosquitoes, black flies and canker worms. Spraying will begin in about 10 days, he said.

Committee also tied the final strings in its package agreement with the Borough on purchasing the Harrop property next to Community Park, and introduced its ordinance, paralleling the Borough one, apportioning the interest costs on financing construction of the public library. Public hearing May 17.

COSTLY OVERSIGHT: Borough Police report that Mrs. Elizabeth Gilliam of Riverside Drive, N.Y., removed a ring from her finger while in a Nassau Inn ladies' room, failed to recall until later that she had not replaced it. When she telephoned to report it missing, it was also missing from the washroom. Value: $3,000.

TAXES OVERDUE? Monday was the deadline for payment of second quarter municipal property taxes. If you've failed to ante up, hustle along to your tax collector's office—there's a short "grace" period in some cases before the penalty is incurred.

HEAT WAVE: All those cold spring days vanished in a hurry this week as temperature readings in the 80's took charge. . . . Monday and Tuesday with 87° broke 23-year old records. . . . last week was also the first since last fall when at least one reading below freezing was not reported.

For May, the long-range outlook is temperature and precipitation near normal—the latter an inadequate forecast for constantly dwindling water supplies.

WHAT'S INSIDE? Engagements and weddings are on the increase at this time of year, with more than the usual number reported on page 36. . . . . Latin award winners and three who observed 25 years of service to Opinion Research Corporation are pictured in People in the News, pages 38 and 39.

A new era in rowing is forecast following the performance of Harvard's crew Saturday in breaking Carnegie's course records by a fabulous 20 seconds. . .picture and story in the sports section (pages 40 to 44), as are reports on further achievements by the high school's unbeaten track team, the first round of play in Springdale Golf Club's first 1965 tournament and the story of a Princeton coach who may succeed himself on Dick Colman's football staff.

Stories in Topics of the Town include one citing a trend toward permitting doctors to operate offices in residential areas providing neighboring property owners do not object to the necessary zoning variance. . .thanks from Chief Peter J. McCrohan to residents who have been calling police headquarters to report suspicious incidents. . . .and a welcome, hopefully untemporary, decrease in vandalism.

"My favorite reading matter" is revealed by a variety of those interviewed at the Bryn Mawr Book Sale for Question of the Week. . . . progress on "Wonderful Town," scheduled for mid-May production, heads the list of theatrical events detailed in pages 25-28, while spring concerts and recitals are almost as numerous and a look at the 1965-66 concert season is provided in Music in Princetoo (pages 15 and 16), where the J. Merrill Knapp production of Handel's "Imeneo" is reviewed.

RUNNING BATTLE: Foreign diplomats whose chauffeur-driven cars are weaving in and out of Turnpike traffic at 80 miles an hour are giving State Police a full share on headaches. . . .the ambassadors, UN personnel and their associates claim dipomatic immunity in their "right" to hustle down the Turnpike to Washington.

State Police admit their hands are tied in the matter of issuing summonses but will now warn offenders that they may be ushered off the Turnpike if they persist in flagrant violations. . . . .in a few cases in recent years, diplomatic immunity was considered to bring the right to drive at more than 100 miles an hour. . . . .once an official Russian car was stopped in a radar trap, the Soviets asked to see the radar in operation, were promply refused.

HELPING HAND: Names of Republican candidates in Mercer County would have been omitted from the June 1 primary ballot had it not been for an assist from their Democratic opponents. . . . .when the petitions bearing the names of the GOP nominees were filed with County Clerk William H. Falcey, the 98 signatures fell two short of the required number and Mr. Falcey refused to accept them. . .just prior to the legal deadline for printing the ballots, Democrats came to the rescue by proposing and helping to enact an emergency measure which approved the petitions as filed. . .the alternative would have been a county-wide write-in campaign in June to assure Republican representation in November.

HERE AND THERE: Skateboard accidents in Trenton have been sufficiently numerous so that legislation banning them has been proposed. . .the city's two hospitals have reported a steadily increasing rate of injuries attribuable to them, the most recent to a 14-year old boy who broke both arms Monday afternoon.

The Princeton University band gave an outdoor concert Tuesday evening in front of Nassau Hall, will repeat its performance next Wednesday, May 12, at 7 and again on Sunday afternoon, May 16, at 3:30 . . .what a pleasure it would be if step-singing, a 50-year old spring pastime which was not revived after World War II, came back to the Princeton scene.

Chasing the Chills

I like to feel
The golden sun
That worms my toes up,
One by one.

It was head-to-toe warmth this week, as the thermometer took a long-overdue excursion into the upper regions. As a matter of fact, readings close to 90 for Monday and Tuesday broke records for early May in these parts.

The temperature will remain well above normal for the next few days. Generally fair weather will prevail, although there is a chance of Saturday showers.

EVER READY: Most men in their 50's are content to call 18 holes of golf an adequate day's exercise, but that's just a teaser to Bill Bonthron, whose 4:08.7 mile still stands as the University's record 32 years after it was set. . . .last Saturday, Bonnie played 18 holes in one foursome, found a friend who wanted to go 9 and promptly raised his afternoon's total to 27.

Next day, he teed off at 8:40 (just as the rain stopped), hustled home for a quick bite and was ready for a 12:48 foursome that afternoon. Told that there was plenty of daylight left as he finished his 36th hole he said "no thanks" to another round a bit wistfully, remarking that he thought he should go home and see his mother-in-law.

CAR THIEVES NABBED

Trenton Youths Involved. Two cars owned by Princeton residents were among the six that a gang of Trenton youths have admitted stealing. One of the two reported stolen on April 24 by Harry Hurvitz, 44 Nassau Street, was found later in Trenton, stripped of its tires and wheels, radiator and battery.

The story unfolded after two 14-year-old Trenton youths were apprehended by state police in Bordentown driving a car which they admitted stealing from a Palmer Square lot. The car was owned by Arthur Jeffries, 9 Palmer Squaqre W., an employee of Renwick's.

The youths were questioned at length by Sgt. James Kopliner and Detective Robert McAvenia of the Borough police. After hours of interrogation, they admitted stealing the cars and involved two others, also from Trenton.

Police said the gang would come to Princeton, split up and try to steal cars which they would then strip down and abandon. Chief Peter J. Mc Crohan said they carried a set of 10 "knock out" keys which would fit any ignition of a particular make of car.

Two of the boys were taken to the Mercer County Youth House by the Borough Police. Another, over 16, was taken to Mercer County Jail where he awaits action by a juvenile judge. A fourth boy is being prosecuted by the Trenton police.

CHAIRMAN NOMINATED

For Red Cross Chapter. Jerald S. Hanks, secretary-treasurer of the Industrial Reactor Laboratory in Plainsboro, has been nominated chairman of the Princeton chapter of the American Red Cross.

Also approved as nominees by the branch's executive committee are William R. Cosby, first vice-chairman; Mrs. Terrell Davis, second vice-chairman of volunteer office; Joseph Catelli, treasurer; John F. Hoff, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Wilson Coan, secretary.

Nominated to three-year terms as directors are Dr. Erling Dorf, Ridgely Cook, Kenneth G. Stults and Mrs. Harris Colt. Charles E. Farrington has been nominated to serve an unexpired term as director through June 1966. The nominees will be submitted to the members of the chapter for approval on May 27. Anyone who contributed to the Red Cross or United Fund drive may attend the meeting at the Nassau Inn.

FIVE ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Five persons were fined Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr., four for traffic offenses.

They are David Young, 18, 7 Randall Road, $25, speeding; George LeMon, 20, Washington Street, Rocky Hill, $15, late inspection; Ralph Perna, 17, 56 Tee-Ar Place $10, careless driving; and George W. Trotman, 56, 37 Leigh Avenue, $15, unlicensed driver. A second charge against Mr. Trotman—failing to keep to the right—was dismissed.

In criminal court, David L. Forrest, 28, 238 Mt. Lucas Road, was fined $30 and $10 court costs for creating a disturbance at Borough Police Headquarters, while under the influence of alcohol. To a second, less aggravated charge for the same offense, Forrest pleaded not guilty. It was dismissed.

Three Princeton area drivers had their licenses suspended by the Division of Motor Vehicles under its Point System.

They are George J. Engel-

Open House

In case you'd forgotten, this has been "Local Government Week" in New Jersey, and to bring the week to a whistling close, the Township will hold Open House Friday from 9-5.

The occasion, of course, is the completion of the new annex to Township Hall, and it is the annex that will be especially on view. Although you can visit Township Hall, too, if you like.

Now that the annex is in use by the Building Inspector, Engineer, Department of Health and Department of Welfare, Township Hall itself is once more being used for municipal meetings.

HOW TO ENJOY WINE

NO. 1 IN A SERIES

There is only one rule to follow in your enjoyment of wine — DO WHATEVER SUITS YOUR TASTE. Don't be confused by all the nonsense and hocum-pokum that has been written about wine.

There are a few guides — we won't call them rules — which can increase your enjoyment of wine. In this advertisement, and in succeeding ones, we will attempt to talk about some of these. We hope you'll find them interesting, but most of all, remember to do what pleases YOU, not what you THINK should please you.

HOW MUCH SHOULD WINE COST?

The most expensive is not necessarily the best. The reason a Chateau Lafite Rothschild '47 (if you could find one) would cost at least $20.00 a bottle is obvious. This is from one of the finest vineyards in the world. 1947 was one of the best years for Red Bordeaux in this century, and someone has tended this bottle, and incidentally tied up his capital, for 18 years.

Yet one can find a Red Bordeaux from a lesser chateau in the same small strip of land (called the Medoc, lying west of the River Gironde, north of the city of Bordeaux, France), at a great deal less cost but at very little sacrifice in pleasure. For example, we have a very nice Chateaux Lynch-Bages '61 (hailed by some as a superb vintage, but now being challenged by the yet-unbottled '64's) at only $5.49 a bottle.

Also, do not be a snob about the label and whether the wine is imported or domestic. The better California wines are considered by many to be superior to the more ordinary imported ones. Many are priced well below two dollars a bottle and those at two dollars or slightly more are usually outstanding. Try our Louis Martini Cabernet Sauvignon at $2.15 a bottle. Close your eyes and even an expert might call it a truly fine Claret from the Bordeaux.

The most important thing to do is to try a number of different wines. When you find one you like at an affordable price, buy a few bottles and put them down. Keep experimenting, adding to your collection when you find a wine you enjoy, and soon you will have a respectable "cellar."

MAY WE SUGGEST YOU TRY THESE SELECTIONS? IF YOU FIND ONE EXCEPTIONALLY PLEASING, YOU CAN SAVE 10% BY THE CASE.

SOME DAY THIS WILL BE A POND. Members of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association discuss the future plans of a 174-acre abandoned farm in Hopewell Township which was given to the Association anonymously. From left are, Dr. John Maxwell, Professor of Geological Engineering, Princeton University; Carlyle E. Yates, newly-elected chairman of the board of the Association; and David H. McAlpin, honorary chairman. To be used as a research reserve by Princeton and Rutgers Universities, the land will later be flooded to demonstrate the effectiveness of ponds to recharge the ground water supply. (Joseph J. WATERSHED GETS FARM

Gift of 174 Acres. An abandoned farm, half way between Hopewell and Pennington on Stony Brook next to the Hopewell Valley Golf Course, has been given to the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association. The name of the donor has not been revealed.

About one-quarter of the 174-acre plot is woodland and the rest is cleared farm and buildings, an Association spokesman said. The property will be used chiefly as a research reserve for Princeton and Rutgers Universities and one of the first projects will be the construction of a pond, whose purpose will be to demonstrate the principle of "recharging" the ground water supply.

Part of the farm will be planted with specimen forest trees by the New Jersey Bureau of Forestry and part with specimen shade trees by the New Jersey Federation of Shade Tree Commissions. Projects will be financed through a special fund. The Association also plans to purchase 18 additional acres adjoining the farm.

A panel of advisors has been chosen to plan the area. They are John Maxwell, professor of geology, Princeton; John Milton of The Conservation Foundation; George Moorhead, chief of the New Jersey Bureau of Forests; Theodore Pettit, conservation director of the Boy Scouts of America; Paul Pierson, professor of zoology at Rutgers; Selden Tinsley of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, and Watershed Association trustees H. Russell Butler, William Flemer III, Alfred Meiss and Mrs. Gordon Knox.

CHIEF PRAISES CITIZENS

For Their Telephone Calls. Borough Police Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported at his press conference Tuesday that his department had received ten calls the previous week reporting items of a suspicious nature. "I don't know whether Law Day (May 1) or the fact that there has been a lot of vandalism lately has anything to do with it," the Chief said, "but this is about four times the number of calls we get in an average week."

Chief McCrohan was obviously pleased with the citizens' response. Said he: "This is very helpful to us. Without the continued support of the townspeople our small force can't hope to cope effectively with all the vandalism and the crime that goes on. We appreciate the citizens calling us very much, especially those in the Palmer Square area, and I hope they will continue to do so."

Chief McCrohan went on to point out that he does not mind if the caller wishes to remain anonymous. "Any call is better than no call at all. In cases where callers do give us their name, we will make every effort not to disclose their identity, if they prefer," he continued.

Most of the calls last week centered around suspicious persons, two involving areas

Mrs Amelia Boynton, spokesman for the Alabama citizens who sought an audience with Governor George Wallace after the Selma-Montgomery march, will speak at a dinner on Tuesday, May 18, at the Nassau Inn sponsored by the Princeton Committee of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc.

She will be joined on the speakers' platform by Jack Greenberg, lawyer who directs the legal operations of the NAACP fund. The purpose of the fund is to pay for the defense, in court, of those who have been deprived of civil rights.

The dinner meeting is being arranged by Mrs. A. Perry Morgan Jr., dinner chairman, and Mesdames Elmer Alpert, John W. Ballantine, Roland Ely, Edward A. Frieman, Leighton Laughlin, Peter Putnam and William Sword.

"Y" PLANS FOR GIRLS

Teens, Toddlers, and Up. The YWCA is sponsoring a trip to Hood College, Frederick, Maryland, Saturday and teenage girls who would like to go should call the "Y" at 924-4825 for reservation. Cars will leave the "Y" at 7 a.m., returning about 5:30.

Young women who have come to Princeton from foreign countries are invited to join the Thursday Club which meets weekly at 12:30 at the YWCA for sandwiches, coffee and informal discussions designed to improve familiarity with the English language and American customs.

Mothers of five-year-old boys and girls may register them now for the half-day camp to be held on the "Y" grounds from 9 until noon starting July 2. There will be three two-week sessions.

Games, stories, arts and crafts and special activities will be offered for the youngsters, but there will be no swimming. The enrollment limit is 25 children.

On Non-Violence. "Non-violence: Method and Goal for Contemporary Society" will be the keynote address for the third Workshop on Non-violence to be held Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15, at the First Presbyterian Church under the sponsorship of the Princeton Fellowship of Reconciliation.

The speaker will be A. J. Muste, secretary-emeritus of the Fellowship of Reconciliation. He will deliver his address at 8 p.m. Friday following registration at 7.30.

Saturday's feature will be a panel discussion, starting at 9:40 a.m. on "What is power and who holds it?" by Dr. Jacob Fishman, psychiatrist at Howard University; Charles Sherrod, a founder of SNCC and now a student at Union Theological Seminary, and Mr. Muste. The panel will be introduced by Glenn Smiley, director of Field Work for the Fellowship.

At 1 p.m. Saturday, role-playing in non-violent action will be enacted by a team of four, and the workshop will conclude at 3:30 with a summary by Mr. Smiley.

hour at 7 and dinner will be served at 8. Dancing will continue until 1. Mrs. Joseph T. McCullen, social chairman, has made the preparations for the event.

GARDENING WITH HERBS

18th Century-Style. Fragrant, flavorful herbs will soon be growing again at 231-year-old "Rockingham" in Rocky Hill.

There's no record of the herbs in the garden back in August 1783 when the widow of Judge John Berrien rented the house to George Washington while Congress was in session in Princeton. But the Stony Brook Garden Club, which will plant and maintain the herb garden, has dug into old records, reviewed the plantings at the Brooklyn Botanic Garden, Williamsburg, "Tempe Wick" in Morristown and Pennsbury Manor, coming up with a list of herbs to be found in a typical 18th Century garden.

Mrs. Henry Patton and her co-chairman, Mrs. Alan P. Carter, are heading the garden club project. Mrs. Donald Griffin and Mrs. Francis Austin worked out the plans. Much of the research was done by Mrs. David Miller. A 37-ft. by 34-ft. area between the house and the summer kitchen will be enclosed by a picket fence. There will be brick walks installed on two sides and a pebbled path traced through the garden.

New Jersey Herbs. The herbs selected, rich in folklore, are the plants a colonial housewife in New Jersey would grow for salads, medicines, teas, perfume, liquor ro to season and flavor meats.

There will be chives, dill, tarragon, lovage, sweet basil and burnet for salds. There will be bee balm, from which the colonial hostess made a fragrant tea, and thyme, now used for seasoning but in the 18th Century used medicinally as a sedative and in treating bronchitis, whooping cough and indigestion.

Herbs which long ago hid the taste of aging meat include parsley, bay leaf, marjoram, Rosemary and salvia, all to be planted at "Rockingham," as well as Foxglove, mint, catnip, artemesia, heliotrope and santolina, grown by the colonial housewife for their medicinal virtues.

Also on the list are orris root and lavender, loved by the colonial for perfume; agelica, rose geranium anise for desserts; and clove pink, winter savory and clary sage, used by colonials in liquors.

A number of other herbs are under consideration for the garden: nettlewood, lemon balm, germander, rue, pennyroyal, hyssop and basil among them. The herbs will be chosen to provide color and design during all four seasons. The garden club plans to label the plants and to provide lists to the public, some 5,000 of whom visit "Rockingham" each year.

May Market. Many varieties of herbs will be on sale this Tuesday at the Stony Brook Garden Club's sixth annual May Market, to be held from 10 to 5 at 15 Hodge Road. (The pouring rain date is May 12.) Also available will be such items as trillium, astilbe, columbine, various ground covers, foliage plants and summer bulbs.

The sale committee includes Mrs. Francis M. Austin and Mrs. Donald C. Stuart Jr., chairmen; Mrs. Raymond H. Carter, Mrs. Alan P. Carter, Mrs. Lucius

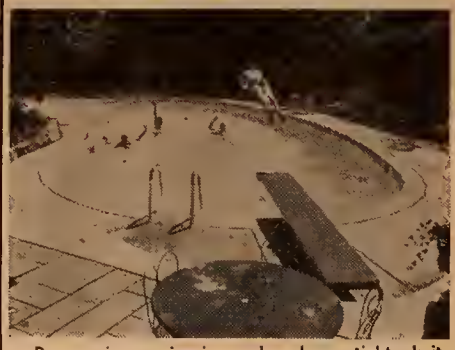
SOME FAMILIES PLAY TOGETHER
... AND STAY TOGETHER!



Does owning a swimming pool produce a tighter-knit family? Definitely, said pool owners across the country in a recent nationwide poll. Here are the reasons they gave for owning a pool:

1. It keeps the family together. Children want to stay home; teenagers entertain at home.
2. It's safe. Youngsters learn to swim quickly. Keeps entire family off highways on weekends and holidays.
3. It's healthy. Swimming is one of the finest forms of exercise known. Trims weight; gives that healthy, tanned look.
4. It's fun. No more crowded beaches or pools.
5. It's convenient. Swimming every day of the season.

Why don't you investigate the wonderful world of swimming. Your family will never forget you for it.

SYLVAN ... THE POOL FOR ALL SEASONS

TO STUDY ARENA

For Indoor Tennis. Freeholder Richard J. Coffee has begun a preliminary study to determine the suitability of establishing an indoor tennis center in the vacant Kaiser hangar at the Mercer County Airport.

The building has floor space of 67,000 square feet and could be converted into an arena with six to eight courts. The county has owned the building for 15 years and, on the recommendation of three Princeton residents, said that the construction of the courts would cost $75,000.

The figure was suggested by John Conroy, the Princeton University tennis coach, Mrs. Lewis Kraft, and Peter J. Morgan, Princeton track coach. They said that the facilities could gross between $50,000 and $100,000 annually. Mr. Coffee said the indoor courts would not conflict with the proposed outdoor center in Assunpink Park.

Lesley in YWCA Show

"World's Fair Pool-A-Rama" is the title of this year's show to be presented by the Y-Nauts, Princeton YWCA's synchronized swim groups.

Two performances, at 7:30 and 9 p.m., will be held May 21. Guest performer Lesley Bush, Olympic gold medal winner, will demonstrate her diving ability.

The names of the aquatic routines include "Flordia Flippers," "Watusi Drumheat," "Aztec Raindance," "It's A Small, Small World" and "Fireworks Finale."

PHS WINS FIRST, 5-4

Behind Walstad's Hitting. It took an old pro to provide the spark that enabled the beleaguered Princeton High baseball team to win that first one after six failures.

Paul Walstad, a four-year veteran who had trouble getting started this season, snapped out of a protracted batting slump and went three-for-three Monday afternoon against visiting Franklin, including a game-winning single in the final inning. Paul also rapped out a double and another single. The final score was Princeton 5, Franklin, 4.

After the Little Tigers had taken a 4-0 lead at the end of four innings, it looked for a moment as if they might give it away. They committed two of their four errors in the fifth when Franklin scored three unearned runs and another to tie it at 4-all. There it stood 'til the final inning.

Ken Ward opened the last of the seventh with a walk and promptly stole second. A sacrifice fly moved Ward to third from where he scored easily when Walstad singled. Chris Fischer, who relelved Howard Rifkin in the fifth, picked up the win.

The Blue and White scored a pair in the first on a walk and singles by Curt Schaefer and Walstad. It added single tallies in the second on singles by Curt Mitchell and Bill McQuade and in the fifth when Gil Turner's double scored Mitchell who had walked.

In all, the Little Tigers rapped seven hits off Franklin pitchers, two more than the losers whose record is now 2-4-2. In going 1-for-3, Curt Schaefer raised his batting average to an even .300 — high among the Little Tigers.

PHS SWAMPS NOTRE DAME

In Track, 109-8. In what amounted to no more than a light workout, the Princeton High thinclads swamped home team Notre Dame Tuesday, 109-8, as the Little Tigers captured first and second place in every event. The victors swept the 220, 440 ,880, high hurdles and javelin events.

Vince Boccanfuso was a triple winner, taking top honors in the 100, high jump and broad jump. Andy Kulley won both the shot and the discus. Ironically, the only impressive mark in the entire meet did not count. Tom Fasanella hurled the javelin 192 feet in a practice throw but had to settle for an official mark of 178-6, in winning the event.

For Notre Dame it was only their second meet of the season, four having been rained out. The lack of competition was noticeable as the losers (0-2) managed only eight third-place finishes, five in the field events. Princeton is now 7-0.

TOURNAMENT HELD

By Springdale Women. Mrs. William R. Bonthron and Mrs. Donald A. Fruland won the Better Ball of Partners Tournament held Tuesday for women members of the Springdale Golf Club. They shot a net 70 for 18 holes.

Mrs. Ridgeley W. Cook and Mrs. E. J. White Jr. were runners-up with a net 72. In the nine-hole tournament, the winners were Mrs. William L. Wilson and Mrs. Eugene Hinkle, net 38. A net of 40 won runner-up honors for Mrs. George Mellor and Mrs. Pettersen Marzoni.

NO-HITTER RECORDED

In Midget League. After a week of rain-forced postponents, the YMCA Midget League got underway last week with a full slate of activity.

The standout performance was credited to Mark Anderson of the Palmer Square Giants who checked in with a no-hitter. Mark coasted while his teammate raked the losers for 22 runs.

In other National League games, the U-Store Braves topped the Princeton Bank & Trust Phillies, 5-3, and the Prep Shop Cardinals trounced Princeton Rotary Club Dodgers, 9-1.

In the American League, the Hulit Store Yankees split. They routed the Nassau Fund Red Sox, 21-11, but lost the day before, 11-7, to the Nassau Savings & Loan Athletics. In other games, Jeff Mordecai's two homers were the difference in the Laidlaw & Company Senators' win over the Red Sox. The Orioles routed the Indians, 25-3.

HUN WINS PAIR

Page Hurls One-Hitter. Combining a sparkling one-hit pitching performance by Scott Page in one game and a 12-run slugging outburst in another, the Hun School baseball team won two important games last week in the Penn-Jersey League. The double win raised Hun's record to 3-1 in the league and placed it in the thick of the fight for first place. "All league members have now lost at least one," said Hun coach John Talbot, "so we should be at least tied for first."

There will be no let up in activity for the Red and Black, Saturday. Hun will entertain Rutgers Prep in a 2:30 contest, and on Monday it will cross swords for the first time with Princeton High at 3:45 on the latter's diamond. Then on Wednesday Pingry will invade Hun for a 3:30 battle. All

Dartmouth, Harvard Picked

Dartmouth and Harvard should be co-favorites in the Ivy Football League this year, according to sports information directors of the eight colleges who met here this week.

The Indians and Crimson each received 44 points in the balloting, with Princeton, the defending champion, allotted 36 and a likely third-place finish. Dartmouth was named to finish first by four of those voting, Harvard by three and Cornell by one.

The Ithacans (with 35 points) should round out first division by placing fourth, on a basis of the consensus pick. Following are Yale (24 points), Penn (17), Brown (14) and Columbia (10).

Gratitude Expressed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter to Police Commissioner William H. Walker:

Yesterday, Monday, April 26, I was faced with the dreaded experience of all bome owners, the possible destruction of the house by fire. The cause was the same as the Trinity Church fire; the result was different due to the prompt reaction of the Police Department. It is for this that I am writing to the Borough Council through you.

Sergeants Gallant and Kopliner and Patrolmen Markuson and Jackson arrived within minutes after my call for help to the Borough Police. Their obvious primary concern for my safety was not only reassuring, but touching. Their efficiency, thoroughness and speedy action prevented a possible disaster, and I wish to make formal and public acknowledgement of my deep gratitude.

With your permission, I shmuld like to send a copy of this letter to the local paper in order that the Princeton residents may once again be aware of the debt we owe to our alert and efficient Police Department.

three encounters are non - league affairs..

Last week's victories were especially gratifying to Talbot because they represented a most welcome reversal in form by the Johnny Huns. The week before, in losing its first in two outings, Hun had struggled through a 14-0, 13-error disaster.

Hun rebounded with a 5-0 shutout in its next start against Solebury. The game centered around the one-hit pitching of Page and the batting of outfielder Lonnie Kaplan, whose three hits drove in four Hun runs. Bob DeLorenzo collected two hits and batted in Hun's other run. The final touch to the icing was the absence of a single Hun miscue.

In its most recent outing, Hun and Germantown Friends battled to a 3-all tie after five innings. Then in the next inning, Hun broke it wide open, when 14 batters paraded to the plate. Six hits and nine runs later it was 12 to 3 and Hun's Chris Westover was assured of his second victory. The final score was 12 to 4.

Biggest blow in the surge was a two-run homer by Kaplan. Westover helped things along by following with a triple. Carl Wilson finished up the last two nnings.

On "Cork & Bottle." Construction has begun on a three-story building located adjacent to the Edmund Cook building, 190 Nassau Street.

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

By Archimedes (Bernard)

Women plagued by oily hair should be wary of scalp irritation due to overly-ambitious attempts to cleanse it. Brushing is highly beneficial, of course, in that it breaks up heavy oil concentrations at the hair roots. It is a good idea to keep a spare brush on hand so that a clean one is available for use at all times.

Tight hats and scarves are best avoided as they tend to lessen scalp ventilation. Unusual oiliness often results in dandruff, reason enough not to ignore any practical care and control of this condition.

Also, do not ignore the fact that we advise you on a number of ways to effectively control this problem. Our operators and stylists will be happy to recommend hair styles that will simplify grooming. MUSIC In Princeton

"IMENEO" GIVEN

American Premiere Staged. On Monday night at McCarter Theatre, Princetonians were given a rare opportunity to experience a three-act opera by Handel, entitled "Imeneo." Presented by the Princeton Symphony and McCarter Theatre, the opera was performed for the first time in America under the direction of J. Merrill Knapp, the noted Handel scholar and musicologist.

The staging was directed and devised by Mark D. Healy. Soloists in the opera were Bethany Beardslee and Janice Harsanyi, sopranos; Lois Laverty, mezzo-soprano; Fadlou shehadi, baritone and Albert DeRuiter, bass-baritone. George Todd was at the harpsichord and the Princeton Chamber Orchestra and members of the Westminster Choir completed the musical forces employed.

There is much beautiful music in "'fmeneo," notably the duets, choruses and several arias; but because of the type of opera it is, couched in the formulas of Handel's time, it abounds in the traditional repetition of material ad absurdum which unfortunately tends to mar much of this period piece's charm.

The music far outranks the libretto in quality, and though there is little variety over the entire length of the work, there is a proper balance of contrast between each aria and section as the plot develops, if one can really call what follows, a plot. For the story is trivial and completely detached from most of the problems of our time, excepting preadolescene experiences of the junior high variety.

"Good." On the whole, the performance was quite good. Janice Harsanyi and Bethany Beardslee were at their very best. Miss Beardslee was superb in her comedienne portrayal of Clomiris and her individual vocal work was extraordinarily controlled.

Though Miss Laverty's mezzo soprano was not particularly convincing, she nevertheless tried to interpret the difficult melismatic vocal acrobatics that Handel originally conceived for the male soprano of his day. Her tone improved greatly during the third act and her duets with Mrs. Harsanyi were beautifully executed.

Fadlou shehadi, as Hymeneus, the warrior and one of the suitor's of Rosemene (sung by Mrs. Harsanyi) possessed a strong, unwavering clear tone throughout the evening. Mr. DeRuiter appeared the least technically equipped to handle his role of Argenius, King of the Greeks, his voice slightly flat and raspy. It is possible that temporary difficulties could have been at fault with his performance, but it was unfortunately, the least convincing of the five main characters.

The choir sang very well, bringing out some of Handel's best music. George Todd's performance on the harpsichord continuo was expert rhythmically precise, and nicely balanced with the chamber orchestra.

Mr. Knapp obviously knew the score from beginning to end, directing his forces with a relaxed but reliable hand. The phrasing and nuances throughout the evening were a delight to the ear. The orchestra played superbly and the capacity crowd at McCarter theatre seemed pleased with the overall results.

This reviewer has one reservation, his favorable impressions, not to be discounted: with practically the best that Princeton has to offer in the way of vocal talent, a fine chamber orchestra and enthusiastic support from the community, why couldn't these same forces be put to work towards a more worthwhile musical goal such as Stravinsky's "The Rake's Progress," an opera right out of Handel, more interesting as a story, and far more colorful as a musical experience?

Music In Princeton

Orchestra's season, commemorates the centennial of Lincoln's death. It will be given under the sponsorship of the Friends of Music at Princeton and is open to the public without charge.

Mozart's Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in C Major, with Robert Freeman as soloist, and "Translation for Voice and Orchestra" by Fred Schwartz, graduate student in the department of music at Princeton, will also be on the program. The afternoon will open with Brahms' "Academic Festival" overture.

There is precedent for the narration of Copland's work by a public figure: Adlai Stevenson was the narrator in a performance given last summer at Lewisohn Stadium.

PLAN AHEAD

1965-66 Season is Upon Us. Van Cliburn will be at the top of the list when McCarter Theatre's second annual "Music at McCarter" series gets under way next season.

The 28-year-old Texas pianist will perform on Sunday, December 5, at 3:30 p.m. in Dillon Gymnasium, making his first recital appearance in the Princeton area.

The series will actually open on November 1 with the New York Pro Musica under Noah Greenberg, in a Renaissance program. On November 16, the Australian guitarist, John Williams, will make his Princeton debut.

Andres Segovia, who has taught Mr. Williams, will appear for his third consecutive McCarter recital on January 25. The Belgian pianist, Alfred Brendel, will give an all-Schubert-and-Beethoven recital on March 7 and the Princeton Chamber Orchestra will return on April 11.

A seventh concert is still under negotiation, but McCarter spokesmen say it will be either the Boston Symphony Chamber Players or Georg Demus playing the complete Book I of Bach's Well-Tempered Clavier.

Season subscriptions are available only to undergraduates, graduate students and their families, but remaining single tickets will go on sale one month before each concert. Tickets to the Cliburn recital will be available late in September.

MUSIC AT NOON

By Seminary Organist. Irene Willis will be the next organist in the Thursday Noon recital series at Miller Chapel, playing this Thursday from the works of Pepping, Alain, Bach and Bach-Vivaldi.

Next Thursday, the recitalist will be Peter Brown and on May 20, Michael Korn. Although "noon" is the title of the series, each recital actually begins at 1.35, lasting until 2.05.

A former student of Fritz Heitmann for three years in Berlin, Mrs. Willis has also studied at the Music Conservatory in Geneva, the Oberlin Conservatory, Northwestern University and the Union Theological Seminary School of Sacred Music.

She has held numerous positions in the field of church music and has given recitals in Europe and the United States. Her husband is on the faculty at the Seminary.

TO SING BLOCH

In Miller Chapel. Avodath Hakodesh, the Sacred Service by Ernest Bloch will be sung by the Princeton Seminary Choir under David Hugh Jones Tuesday at 7:30 in Miller Chapel on the Seminary campus.

S.T. Kimbrough will be cantor. Other soloist will be Keitha Needham, soprano; Paul Evans, recitant and Michael Korn, organist. As a prelude, Mr. Korn will play ancient Hebrew melodies arranged for organ by Mr. Bloch.

SPRING IN HOPEWELL

Annual Concert. Singers in the Hopewell Valley Chorus will present their sixth annual spring concert Friday, May 14, at 8:30 in the auditorium of the Hopewell Elementary School, and the public is invited to come, without charge.

The community chorus, directed by Jack Hitchcock, will sing Haydn's Te Deum Laudamus, two madrigals by Orlando Lassus and Thomas Morley and two selections from Aaron Copland's "The Tender Land." The two Copland songs are "The Promise of Living" and "Stomp Your Foot," to be sung with piano duet accompaniment.

In addition, the chorus will sing a group of familiar choral compositions, including "Sentimental Journey," "The Yellow Rose of Texas," "Far Away Places," "Tennessee Waltz," "Set Down, Servant," and selections from "The Sound of Music."

Mrs. George Cushine, accompanist, will be joined by Mrs. Thomas Deering for the Copland numbers.

BOYS TUNING UP

Hun Students will Sing. Princeton boys will be on the risers when the Hun School Glee Club gives its annual Spring Concert Saturday at 7:30 at the School. Goff Owen Jr., will direct.

In the program, which will include selections from the popular and classic repertoire, will be an arrangement of the sea shantey, "A-Rovin'," with a tenor solo by Charles Scassera.

Princeton singers in the Glee Club are Gilbert A. Bliss, John D. Collinson, Christopher R. Hinkle, Geoffrey D. Hobbs, William L. Hunter, John K. Looloian, Theodore W. Sieja, Richard P. Steelman, J. Craig Stretch, Henry P. Tomlinson Jr., and William B. Worthington.

We're a Little Out of Breath, But We're Mighty Grateful, Too!

Now just a young four months old, 1965 has already been quite a year at TOWN TOPICS. January set a record with three consecutive 48-page issues, and February fell right in line.

Then in March, TOWN TOPICS moved up to 52 pages, a size in which it has been publishing virtually every week since the middle of that month. As a result, the total number of pages published since January 1, 1965, is 860, in contrast to 792 for the same number of issues a year ago.

Advertising space bought by our regular accounts — and a host of new clients, too — is higher this year by:

So, we're most grateful — if a little out of breath from handling all the increased lineage, and planning the columns, the features and the pictures to go with it. But in the newspaper business — as in a number of others — you don't mind running a bit harder when you know you're going in the right direction.

The series, "Journey Into Yesterday," will be narrated by Charles Chumley of Nashville, Tenn. In a study of background information on the Old and New Testaments, the lectures form an imaginary visit to scenes familiar to all who read the Bible.

According to Mr. Chumley, "The 'Journey' is designed to strengthen the faith of every Christian by reminding him that the religion of our Lord is based upon fact, not fancy, that it grows out of divinely-inspired historical record, not the imagination of men."

Mr. Chumley, born in Yuma, Colo., in 1918, was educated at David Lipscom College, Nashville; Abilene (Tex.) Christian College and the University of Illinois. He has served as preacher for Church of Christ congregations in Alabama, Illinois and Nashville. Brand New Central Borough Listing

WARM, MELLOW, SOLID, ROOMY, AIRY, SPACIOUS — the adjectives roll out effortlessly and almost endlessly. We love this house! And so should anyone who appreciates the assets of its period (early 1900's) — big rooms (including bathrooms), high ceilings, interesting woodwork, porches, balconies, numerous fireplaces, fortress-like basement, etc.

Statistically speaking, the house includes: large entrance hall, 6 bedrooms, huge library (and a real one at that), big living or formal dining room, TV room, 3½ baths, 2nd floor laundry, pantry and kitchen. And what a kitchen! This one was designed by the owner whose hobby is kitchens. She also must have an engineer's mind — the kitchen is not exactly huge, but how it works.

Last time this house was for sale, disappointed buyers were lined up behind the present owners. Its price is higher now, but it has been commensurately improved. Basic condition and necessities are fine; only upstairs decor remains to be finished. Smallish but nice grounds, appealing street, wonderful happy family house — exclusively offered at

PART OF "WONDERFUL TOWN:" Debbie Truxal and Ken Verostick pour it all out in song in P.J. & B.'s spring musical "Wonderful Town," due to arrive at McCarter next Thursday at 7:30.

News Of The THEATRES

THAT WONDERFUL TOWN

Sets? Costumes? Actors? A cold-water basement apartment isn't so far removed from "Macbeth," if you think about it, and the designer for "Wonderful Town" has thought enough of the idea to use left-over sets from the spring repertory season at McCarter to furbish the stage for "Wonderful Town."

The Bernstein - Condon - Green musical will open at McCarter Thursday, May 13 at 7:30, and will be played again Friday and Saturday at 8:30 and Saturday and Sunday at 2:30. It is, of course, the annual P.J. & B. production, sucessor to last year's "Showboat."

The production is "the most ambitious in the five-year history of the P.J. & B. musicals," says the public relations man. Jay Harnick is directing a cast of 90 rehearsals, and choreographer Joan Morton Lucas is guiding a special dance chorus of 25.

Actors, singers and dancers come from miles around to perform, and the production is, like all P.J. &B efforts, a regional one.

In thecast are Anne Sheldon as Ruth, (the part created on Broadway by Roselind Russell), Debbie Truxal as "my sister Eileen," and Ken Veraostick, David Anderson, Cindy Granman, Alan Stolzer Don Edwards, Carl Brown and David Parnes.

Dancers in the chorus have a great time testing their versatility: they are Greenwich Village "types" one minute, and Brazilian naval cadets the next. Remember the scene where the cadets try to learn the conga and toss Ruth around like a sack of potatoes?

Songs include "Quiet Girl," "Ohio," "It's Love" and "One Hundred Easy Ways to Lose a Man" and "Swing."

WELCOME, SIR JOHN

Actor Returns. The last time Sir John Gielgud came to Princeton it was in the interests of Shakespeare ("A Homage to Shakespeare," March, 1964) This time(he pays homage to two more English poets when he comes to Alexander Hall on Sunday, May 16, at 8 to present a memorial program to T.S. Eliot and Dame Edith Sitwell.

With Sir John will be Irene Worth, who is appearing with the English actor on Broadway in "Tiny Alice." Tickets for the Princeton appearance of the two actors are now on sale in the McCarter box-office.

One of Sir John's earliest Princeton appearance was in 1947 when he and Pamela Brown came to Alexander Hall to read from various English poets. (Since that time, of course, Alexander Hall has been refurnished with upholstered seats instead of wooden pews.)

In the late '50's, Sir John came again to present his "Ages of Man," gleaned from the works of shakespeare. In fact, Sir John gave the program twice for Princeton audiences. He has, in addition, spoken and lectured on thePrinceton University campus under the auspices of the English Department.

THE TWAIN MEET

Jazz and Classic Ballet. An informal dance workshop in jazz and classical ballet will be held Friday at 8 at the studios of the Princeton Ballet Society, 262 Alexander Street. The public is invited, and there will be no admission charge.

Jerry Ross, head of the jazz dance faculty of the Society's ballet school, will join with Lila Brunner of the classical ballet faculty to demonstrate the inter-relationship of the two forms.

Mr. Ross has danced on Broadway and in films, night clubs, summer stock and on TV. He is also a choreographer for these media. Mrs. Brunner is a former soloist with both the Balanchine and American Ballet Theatre companies.

In his jazz demonstration, Mr. Ross will trace the development of jazz from African primitive dance through the dances of Haiti to modern jazz choreographers such as Michael Kidd and Jerome Robbins.

Mrs. Bunner will use the choreography for Tschaikowsky's "Sleeping Beauty" to illustrate the classics. "Sleeping Beauty" will be given by the Ballet Society's school, full-length, on May 28 and 29 in McCarter.

". . .INSPIRED COMEDY"

"Le Million" Coming. James Agee, the noted film critic, said of "Le Million" that it is "one of the most inspired film comedies ever made," and he ranked it with Chaplin.

Rene Claire's 1931 masterpiece will be shown as the next "Encore" at McCarter Thursday at 8.

A melange of music and romance, "Le Million" burlesques grand opera, Hollywood movies and typically Parisian types in the course of its plot about the chase for a missing lottery ticket.

Surf! Surfing enthusiasts will take over McCarter on Monday, May 17 at 8 for the second annual "Surfing Spectacular." This year, it's Bruce Brown's full-color, feature film, "Surfing Hollowdays."

For this film, Mr. Brown shot his footage in Hawaii, southern California, Mexico and "down under," where the big surf breaks in Australia and New Zealand.

Tickets for "Surfing Hollowdays" are on sale at the McCarter box-office and at The Ski, 20 Nassau.

THERE'S A COKE MACHINE

In the Embalming Room. A satirical film, "The Playground," will be previewed at the Garden Theatre for three days, beginning May 16, to gauge the reaction of an average audience to a comedy about death.

The producer is Richard Hilliard, a Princeton University graduate who filmed "Horror of Party Beach" and "Curse of the Living Corpse," currently distributed by Twentieth Century-Fox as a double bill. "The Playground" is based on C.S. Sulzbarger's book, "My Brother, Death."

"Actually, the film is a comedy about life," Mr. Hilliard says, "and it's a satire on many of the foibles of our psychoanalyzed, unbelieving age."

The film has been seen by students at more than a dozen campuses, a project suggested by screenwriter George Garrett, writer-in-residence at Princeton. Film critics Bosley Crowther of the New York Times and David Slavitt of Newsweek had "fine, off the record things to say about the film," Mr. Hilliard says, after the screening at the University of North Carolina. Princeton students applauded the recent private showing at the Garden. Mr. Hilliard's hope is that "The Playground," strictly adult fare, will succeed with Princeton audiences and thereby attract a national distributor.

UNDERWATER FILM SET

For Kirby Arts Center. "Man Looks to the Sea," a marine documentary filmed and narrated by Stanton Waterman of 16 Hunter Road will be presented at 4 Sunday at the Kirby Arts Center of the Lawrenceville School. The Chapin School is sponsor.

In action-filled sequences, the audience is taken from the Caribbean coral reefs to the Hawaiian Islands. Divers risk their lives in Pacific waters to harvest precious black coral, a woman scientist rides underwater on the back of a giant turtle, an octopus attacks a diver, and a harbor seal turns comedian.

Tickets at $1 will be on sale at the box office at show time.

PLAYHOUSE

Masquerade (now playing.) This is James Bond stuff, done tongue-in-cheek. Cliff Robertson, cast as a bumbling soldier of fortune, shows a wonderful flair for comedy. He's in the midst of a tangle of spies and counterspies who swarm all over the Spanish countryside in hopes of rescuing, abducting or assassinating a young Arab prince.

Identies, loyalities and guns change place every minute. Except for Robertson, the audience can't trust a soul. As a Yankee hired by the British Foreign Office, his assignment is to keep a young Arabian prince alive until he becomes old enough to assume the tented throne — and to sign a renewal of his country's oil contract with a British irm.

It isn't long before conspirators, using Marisa Mell as beautiful bait, fool Robertson and make off with the prince. This is followed by mad chases, daring escapades and deathly

COME ON OUT!

The Weather's Fine. Luring you to terrace, patio and lawn are the watchdogs of The Cummins Shop, where wrought-iron, homespun and plates made like cabbage leaves are designed with the sole thought of getting you away from the fireplace and out to the firethorn.

That iron is Pompeiian green, wrought in the shape of a five-candle abra, a single hurricane lamp candle about two and a half feet tall, a charming lantern, a little candleholder and a bracket to hang on the wall for the sustenance of geraniums. There is also a sleek black metal candlestick which holds just one, big fat candle, and you can have the candle in almost any color except Yale blue.

Summer dining on your candle-lit terrace can be from mat or cloth. We'll start with the round cloth that looks like linen (nice and matte) but is really a laminated plastic from which you can wipe the coffee, scrambled eggs and bacon deposited on it by your Sunday brunch guests who really thought it was linen all the time. We saw it avocado, but there are many colors, and you can have it 52 inches square or oblong, if you'd rather not have round.

It comes in two prints, too: a green-blue and an orange-green, both lavishly mixed with white. The same prints have been used for cork-back place mats (or place mattes, maybe, considering the finish?) and there are solid color napkins for every lap.

Straw mats are hot pink, orange, blue from places like Switzerland and Mexico, which don't usually combine in the production of place mats, but there you are. We liked a foam-back mat with runny stripes in golds and greens or blues and greens. But that hot pink will keep you cool on a warm lunch hour!

No-iron devotees will choose the homespun tablecloth, and what colors to choose from! Most of the combinations are plaids and you'll be reminded of stadium blankets in a lot of cases. To us, they looked like authentic clan tartans, but only Cummins knows for sure.

Round, fringed "homespun" clothes are really laminated plastic. These, in houndstooth designs, are deep olive, raspberry or black.

For the center of your summer table, take home a bunch of grapes a foot long. It's a hemp mat made of dark purple grapes, and green leaves, each designed for — oh, a flowerpot, perhaps, or a hot dish. Too small for placemats.

Now we get to the dish itself. It's probably that cabbage-leaf bowl (two sizes) in which you are serving the cole slaw, what else? Of course, there's a cabbage-leaf plate, too, for the sliced tomatoes, and a mayonaise bowl.

For only $1 each, you may have a white bisque-like plate with matching fruit bowl, made in Spain. Nice contrast to the green cabbage.

Another salad bowl comes from Italy. It's oyster white with a few delicate flower sprays inside its curve. From it, you serve on outdoor salad plates with sailboats on white, or green flowers on mustard, or the curving tendrils of a vine on oyster white (We like the one with raw carrots in the middle.)

And after a meal like that, what can you do but stretch out in the Cummins Shop's hammock? The bright green, or bright yellow or bright orange one made of hemp and priced at $10.

LET'S RE-DECORATE THE GARDEN: De Vries, the Garden Center in Franklin Park, is the one to give you suggestions. Here, for the modern home, is a garden laid out in rectangles and pebbles, with old-fashioned charm from daffodils and tulips. In the foreground are the two circular redwood steps leading up to the disc-shaped redwood deck. (Staff Photo)

FOR GARDENERS

Need to Spruce Up? A visit to De Vries' Garden Center, about 11 miles from Princeton (depending on the point from which your crow starts to fly) on Route 27, beyond Franklin Park, will take you all afternoon, and into such ramifications of landscaping and gardening that you will probably decide to re-do the whole garden when you get home.

But you can, if you dare, come away with only a flat of alyssum — the one you found next to the petunias in the "Japanese-Contemporary" section with its flat stone floor of subtly colored rectangular stones.

This is the little garden "room" bounded also by clumps of low juniper and ground cover, artfully arranged with rocks and with pebbles large and small for a Japanese-modern effect.

Next door is the greenhouse with its dwarf collection. Can you resist the dwarfed apple tree in its container for $35, or the pine for $135? Of course, there are charming little dish gardens too, for only $12 (that's the one with the Scotch broom, in case you forgot your $135.

Back outdoors again, we find a section devoted to broad-leaf evergreens, thoughtfully shel-encounters . . . and watch out for those shifting rules of play.

GARDEN

A Stranger Knocks. This is the second "court-decision" film to come to Princeton in recent weeks. "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home" triumphed over the objections of Notre Dame University. "A Stranger Knocks," first viewed in 1960 at the San Francisco Film Festival, has been in the courts for two years, ending with a Supreme Court decision that struck a mortal blow at pre-release film censorship.

Variety's critic at San Francisco commented, "This brooding, explosive and superbly fabricated Danish film has only one serious flaw; it is simply too explicit for exhibition in the U.S." The litigation arose from the distributors' refusal to cut two very frank scenes depicting sexual gratification. They argued that the scenes were an integral part of the story's motivation. In March, the Supreme Court agreed.

The story takes place on Denmark's lonely North Sea coast during 1947. A fugitive knocks at the door of an isolated cottage. A beautiful and emotionally remote woman gives him shelter. Her husband was tortured and shot by the S.S.-trained Quislings. Birgitte Federspiel and Preben Lerdorff Rye make up the entire cast, with the exception of a minor walk-on role.

Johan Jacobsen has directed the film with honesty and a skilled awareness of mounting tensions. The English captions are hardly necessary.

PRINCE

Dear Heart (now playing.) Geraldine Page turns up in this romantic comedy as a small town postmistress attending a big city convention. She's a chatty type, and soon gets to know Glenn Ford, a greeting card salesman who's sick of traveling. He in turn is interested in Angela Lansbury, a beautiful widow, who likes plenty of room service. The widow has a hip son, played by Michael Anderson Jr., who figures in the confusion.

The players are all competent; the show is over-long.

"HOSTAGE" THEN "MARY"

In New Hope. Julie Harris, the star of "The Hostage," at the Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope, will carry the play through Saturday, May 15, to be followed by Shari Lewis who will star in Jean Kerr's "Mary, Mary" beginning Monday, May 17. The Kerr comedy will run for two weeks, with an added matinee Thursday, May 20.

Co-starring with Miss Harris in "The Hostage" is Geoff Garland as the naive Cockney soldier. It is a role in which he won both the Obie and Vernon Rice Awards for off-Broadway performance in 1962.

In the "Mary, Mary" cast will be Alvin Epstein, protege of Marcel Marceau, and Murray Matheson, a favorite of Bucks County Playhouse audiences who is returning for his eighth appearance in New Hope.

Mr. Epstein will play the husband who is on his way out the door, and Mr. Matheson will be the suave guy who is about to walk in. Mesrop Kesdekian, who directed last year's "Time Out for Ginger," will direct "Mary, Mary."

BRUBECK'S BACK

(Or Will Be). Dave Brubeck and his quartet will come back to the Lambertville Music Circus on Monday, June 21, as the opening jazz attraction for the summer season.

Brubeck has drawn more jazz fans to the big tent on the Delaware than any other jazz artist artist, but non-Brubeck fans may prefer to wait around for Count Basie, Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Ahmad Jamal and others, dates not yet pinned down at the moment.

The regular music circus season will start Saturday, May 29 with Rodgers and Hammerstein's "The King and I," to be presented through Sunday, June 6.

Besides musicals and jazz offerings, the Lambertville Music Circus has lined up a schedule of folks shows and special Sunday afternoon attractions, plus children's shows on Saturday mornings. The carousel ride and the ferris wheel will be ready to spin for the opening, too.

tered against the sun by a lath roof. Azalea in quantity, of course, and rhododeodrons and pieris Japonica and a reminder to use Hollytone acid plant food.

And hollies! Did you know there were so many? Ilex aquifolium varigated, with the bright yellow edge against the holly green, and I. aquipernyi "Brilliant" and f. Alticlarensis Wilsonl. You could decorate the whole house for Christmas.

DeVries has landscaped part of the Garden Center into a series of small model gardens separated by bamboo fences, hedges or perhaps a winding path. You'll walk from one to another along a brief, curving path lined, when we were there, by rows of hyacinths that lift their fragrance as you walk by.

One garden has a circular brick floor. Another is contemporary in feeling (see photo). A third will show you how to use pebbles of various sizes around the trees where you can't grow grass.

Within the main building, DeVries has redwood tubs in several sizes, including half-tubs to hang against your outside wall. Buy dahlias or tuberous begonias or gladiola for later bloom.

And wait until your master gardener see's Toro's underground sprinkler system! Pop-up sprinklers to dot all over your lawn, or wave sprinklers for the kids to play with.

See what we mean? You'll be there all day.

GOT A FISHNET?

Donna has. And she isn't fishing with it, either, unless you think of this particular net as bait for the beach boys. It's a white fishnet shirt with white jersey collar and you wear it over a bathing suit or a bikini, but definitely OVER something.

If you're pre-teen — and many are — you've already bought Donna's sailor bathing suit, one piece, with navy stretch shorts, red hip-length top and navy-white stripe V-iosett at the neck. Low tide in back.

Your beach buddy is wearing her bubble top with the white crocheted look, edged with red yarn at the wide U neck and the girly one in the crowd has on the arnel jersey top bathing suit with its pink carnations and olive green shorts.

After the beach, you'll wear the pre-teen white lace dress, prim as a great aunt, with long sleeves and a high empire bosom under-scored with a pink sash and bow. Another white cotton lace has a pink satin rose right at the apex of the A-skirt.

Junior Petites are wearing long formals this spring. Donna's collection starts with pale aqua organza, long and bell-like with an empire bodice of white lace. The long white organza has a perfectly plain top with a double fold of avocado and pale pink marking the high waist. At just about mid-calf, there's a band of pink roses sewed against the white.

After the ball is over, Donna suggests a race along the beach in orange and white striped terry, sleeveless, with orange short shorts and a striped long-sleeved pullover. In navy, too. In fact, that soft terry finish in white-and-color, stripes almost everything in Donna's sports department, except the hot pink velour pullover with its V-neck.

A "Sassy," that short shift with the slits, is hot lemon with a big blowfish in bright pastels right in the middle of the front and pastel striped shorts to match. Another lemon shift (or powder blue) is heavy cotton with a stand-up collar you can get to lie down, just for a change.

And here's a real dress: Irish linen in two pieces, with an "X" of tucks across its overblouse. The deep copen shirt shift in linen has a lime chiffon scarf.

Window Dressing

When we say these new windows are open, we don't exactly mean that the way a housewife means it—we mean the newly designed display windows at Bailey's, in the Shopping Center, are wider, deeper, lower and—well, more open.

Warm pine paneling and cork display boards provide the side walls for the new window alignment, and the stained pine has been repeated on the floor, where it gives a nice background to the casual sportswear now on display. It's a good remodeling job, blending the traditional Princeton approach with something clean and modern. Take a look!

FAIR PLANNERS: Mrs. Stuart Duncan, chairman of the Princeton Days Schools Fair, is flanked by Mrs. James Figg on the left, chairman of prizes, and Mrs. Kevin Kennedy, chairman of midway games. The fair, which will be held on Saturday, May 15, has its theme "Blast off from Broadmead."

the site of the old Lawrenceville quarry.

A geological survey will be performed to determine the effect that pumping water from the quarry would have on nearby wells. The zoning board has indicated that favorable results from the survey will bring approval from the board for the project.

An application to erect 100 more apartments behind the present Nassau Gardens on Franklin Corner Road has been turned over to a subcommittee for study, in another action taken by the planning board. A recent survey, however, indicates that the 15 percent limitation imposed on apartment construction in the township has been exceeded, indicating that the proposal is likely to be rejected.

A SPACE MASQUERADE

To Be Part of School Fair. A featured activity at the Princeton Country Day School Fair on May 15 will be a make-up booth which will transform children attending the fair into creatures from Mars and other varieties of space men.

Mrs. Dexter Miller will be in charge of the booth which is in keeping of the overall theme of the fair — "blast off from Broadmead." The fair will be the last to be held on the school grounds.

In another related attraction, customers will have the opportunity to toss sponges at the faces of PCD students standing behind the target of a space man. Mrs. F. B. Van Houten will direct the operations of this booth.

Proceeds from the fair will support the Day Schools scholarship fund. The program will get underway at 10:30 and continue until 4:30.

Refreshments will be served and stand by attractions such as the duck pond and baseball throw will again be offered. Mrs. Stuart Duncan is in charge of the committee of 50 parents, faculty members and friends of the school who are arranging the event. Mrs. Harold Bergman assisted Mrs. Duncan. The fair will be merged with other Day School activities next year.

HOLYOKE AWARD MADE

To Education Board Officer. The Mount Holyoke Community Service Award has been presented to Mrs. Sarah Strayer, vice-president of the Borough Board of Education.

The presentation was made to Mrs. Strayer, a Mount Holyoke alumna, at a meeting of the Princeton chapter of the college's alumnae. The citation accompanying the award praised Mrs. Strayer for her vision, understanding and hard work in the field of education.

The citation noted that her years on the board of education have "coincided with a time of change and challenge and growth in the Princeton school system. Mrs. Strayer has taken a responsible and forward-looking part, even in areas like the studies of technical education for which one would not think that her academic orientation had prepared her."

Mrs. George Beetle discussed her experiences as a Peace Corps volunteer in West Pakistan as featured speaker at the meeting, which was held in the home of Mrs. Thomas Page of Lawrenceville. Marjorie Girth of Cranbury was elected president; Mrs. John Chandler of Princeton, vice-president; Mrs. H. M. Benedict of Pennington, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Powers of Princeton, secretary.

22 ATTEND

Vassar Club Student Meeting. The Vassar Club of Central New Jersey attracted 22 students from Princeton schools to a meeting for prospective Vassar College students last week. The meeting was held at "Prospect," the Princeton University campus home of Mrs. Robert F. Goheen.

Those who attended were Dale Marzoni, Katherine Cherry, Elizabeth Fox, Susan Cleaver and Katherine Kennedy, all from Princeton High School; Lee Flournay, Anne Place, Katherine Nevin, Claire Merlino, Eliza Kelly and Meta Harrsen from the Stuart Country Day School; and Mary Young, Susan Fritsch, Jane Borgerhoff, Diane Willis, Lindsley Field, Phoebe Knapp, Julia Lockwood, Mettie Whipple, Faneen Murray, Margery Cuyler and Andrea Hicks from Miss Fine's School.

Susan Getman, assistant to the alumnae secretary, showed and explained slides of the college. The girls also heard talks by two current students and a recent graduate.

TRAINING COMPLETED

For Institute Volunteers. The New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute has completed a free training course for 26 volunteer "friendly visitors."

The program is designed to train the visitors in understanding the needs of institutionalized persons. The course is given under the direction of the Rutgers University extension division in cooperation with the Division of Chronic Illness Control of the State Health Department. Mrs. Lillian Cole, director of psychiatric social service at the institute, was in charge of the program.

The new "visitors" are Mrs. Gail L. Malsbury, Mrs. Rose B. Terry, Mrs. Ethel L. Wallen, Mrs. Margaret W. Young and Mrs. Peggy F. Brashier of Hopewell; Mrs. Julie A. Joplin, Mrs. Virginia E. Miller, Mrs. Nancy B. Tetz; Mrs. Robin A. deKleine, Mrs. Alberta A. H.

BE A TEACHER

You Can Start Today. There were 77 new teachers in Valley Road School Friday, a new principal, a new superintendent and, at the head of them all, a Board of Education, duly chosen by the qualified electorate.

It was "Student Administration Day," scheduled this year to come within "Teaching Career Month," in the hope that some of the 77 boys and girls who taught English, science, algebra and French would decide to go right on after college.

The "Day" began on March 31 when candidates for the Board of Education were nominated in each home room. The next day, boys and girls who wanted to be Teacher for a Day applied for the jobs they wanted and students with administrative skills applied for the jobs of superintendent and assistant.

On Wednesday, April 7, the newly - elected Board of Education, consisting of "Woody" Navin, president; Amy Schoch, secretary, and Deborah Benson, Burt Weisbecker, David Kempton, Mary Vivian, Jay Seitz, Peggy Seitz and Melanie Perone, met to chose the principal and superintendent and to listen to suggestions from the rest of the student body.

The Board's choice for superintendent was Susan Valentine, and for assistant superintendent, Keith Van Arsdalen Carol Westoff was named Valley Road Principal, Paul Perone received the job of secretary and Barbara Sejonski and Susan Hughes were appointed school school nurses.

Afternoons during the week of April 12, when school was operating only half a day be because of parent conferences, the administrative staff and School Board met to select the teachers. On Thursday of that week, boys and girls who had been selected to teach, received their contracts, just like real teachers.

Individual conferences were held between these student teachers and their corresponding French teachers, math teachers, home economics teachers, and the students submitted lesson plans and full details of the work they expected to present to their classmates.

Faculty members in charge were Mrs. Lillian Pfeiffer, chairman, Mrs. Barbara Lorher, Miss Katherine Coffee and Kurt Greenhut. The Valley Road principal — except on student Administration Day — is John Wolfkeil.

MEETING PLANNED

By Nursery Education Group. The New Jersey Association for Nursery Education will hold its spring meeting at Rider College Saturday.

Dr. Anne Hoppock, director of elementary education in New Jersey, will give an address on play as learning at the luncheon. Those wishing further information may call Yvonne Knight at 393-7277.

MEETING SCHEDULED

By Republican Club. The Women's Republican Club of Princeton will hold its annual meeting and tea Thursday, May 13, at 2 in the home of Mrs. J H Mathey of the Great Road.

Nominees for officers for the coming year are Mrs. Donald A. Pickering, president; Mrs. Charles B. Hanan, first vice-president; Mrs. John H. Wallace Jr., second vice-president; Mrs. William R. Cosby, recording secretary; Mrs. William H. Sword, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Richard Blake, treasurer.

Nominated to serve as members of the board at large are Mrs. Frank Eidmann, Mrs. Kenneth Fishbeck, Mrs. J. Taylor Fish and Mrs. Stanley Smoyer.

TO SEEK "ARMY"

For Trenton War on Poverty. United Progress, Inc., the agency administering the federally-financed war on poverty in Trenton, is seeking Princeton residents to participate in the program.

An eight-page booklet has been distributed to 25 members of the Princeton Pastors' Association and other area organizations to inform Princetonians about cultural problems in the neighboring state capital. Volunteers are needed for "project headstart," which will help children of ages 5 and 6 from July 6 to August 20 in a pre - school training program.

Women may work five mornings and twn afternoons per week for an hourly wage of $1.25 or they may volunteer on a more limited basis. College and high school students may assist on a non-paying bassis. Participants in the program will receive training in early July

Help will alsn be needed for such projects as urban renewal, a remedial reading program in the fall and teen-age boys can be used as playground directors during the summer. A one-day orientation program will be held in May for all projects Those interested may register by calling Mrs. Stanley I. Pilshaw at 924-4230 or Mrs. John C Bullitt at 695-5491

PREFERS THE WORLD OF TRUE ADVENTURE: When it comes to his choice in reading, Lee Costa prefers stories of adventure and true exploration. For Lee, what actually happened is more exciting than any fabrication could be. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: What type of book do you enjoy reading most and why?

Where asked: Bryn Mawr Book Sale.

Lee Costa, 28 Maple Street, student Wtirehpsoon School: I like stories of adventure, true exploration and biographies. I like to read about men and things that are true. Fiction doesn't seem very interesting to me. It's the same thing all the time.

Pam Abrams, 35 University Place, student, Witherspoon School: Mostly fiction, adventure books and mysteries. They have a lot of things happening in them and a lot of action. I definitely don't like books on outer space or things like that.

Mrs. Blanche Sherman, 172 Terhune Road, teacher: Political commentaries and books on government and education. It seems to me that the present world scene would require us to have some background reference on these subjects. Of course, I have a professional interest in education and the rapid changes that are taking place in it.

Scott Marsh, 29 Wilton Street, Nassau Street school: Mystery books. You have to have something to read in which you won't get bored. Almost all other books are just stories of some kind of adventure: You have to have a mystery to make you want to read it all the way; otherwise you'll get bored and just quit.

Jimmy Miller, 20 Wilton Street, Nassau Street School: Mysteries, especially by Franklin W. Dixon and Carolyn Keene, which is a name for a man. Mysteries have exciting parts in them and they are fun to read.

Mrs. Henry Chauncey, Rosedale Road, housewife: I like fiction and autobiography. Autobiography is a clue into other people's real lives, and fiction, you could say, is the next best thing. What I really like is history but I don't have the time or the intellectual ambition to work at it.

John Birchfield, 63 N. Main Street, Pennington, manager of Commons Dining Hall: I enjoy reading cook books because I am in the food service department of Princeton University.

C. J. Koutsopoulos, 36 Harris Road, mathematician: My answer may be a little out of the ordinary but I enjoy reading technical books most since I am a mathematician.

Mrs. Bernice Plank, Rocky Hill, volunteer worker at St. Paul's School library: When I read for pleasure only, I like mysteries — they're light and entertaining. For more serious reading, I prefer biographies. I guess I've gone past the age of love stories.

David Weight, Blair Hall, University sophomore: Mainly books on the Middle East because the culture of the Middle East attracts me. It's rather hard to say because we are told what to read and we have to devote virtually every second to our required reading.

Mrs. Joseph H. McCusker, 225 Clover Lane, housewife: I enjoy reading non-fiction, history, archaeology, and recently I've been getting out books on the town — zoning, planning, Princeton history. Princeton is fascinating and I enjoy learning about it. Why do I enjoy reading these books? I guess you might say I just enjoy learning things and finding out something new.

Paul Mickey, student at the Theological Seminary: I would say since I'm in a seminary, that my random interest would be in books that deal with religious themes, but not those particularly with obvious themes. For example, I like to read novels by Melville, Kafka and Graham Greene. These men write about religion but not in an obvious way. They deal with a religious theme in a more subtle and contextual manner — how they really occur in society rather than how they are treated, say, in "Magnificent Obsession" which, to me, is a superficial treatment. I think the aim in this book is a lot toward mass consumption, a sort of popularization of religion.

George Will, Graduate School student, politics: Novels and books on political theory. I find a lot of events that seem to be interesting to the public at large inevitably involve political issues and reading about them makes it more comprehensive to me and more fun.

Mrs. G. B. Herzog, 40 Linwood Circle, housewife: Both fiction and biography, because I read mostly for relaxation.

William O. Klotzbach, Lawrenceville Township, construction planning and cost control: Much of my reading involves things I have to read, but for my leisure, I prefer reading history or perhaps history with a little political overtones, usually of the early and mid-colonial period. No particular reason except it's a subject I've always been interested in. I used to read a lot of mystery stories — S.S. Van Dyne and all those classics — but I've gotten away from those now.

Mrs. Mary Lee McGaughy, Rocky Hill, employee of Gallup Poll: Historical fiction and

Cory S. Kammler

A student of music said, "The beginnings of organized sound go too far back in time for anyone to know its origin. The earliest instruments we know about were clappers, rattles, stamping tubes, then later the drum, and still later the lyre. Around 2,000 B.C. some country in or near Asia Minor produced the lute, consisting of a resonance body with neck on which various notes of melody were made by pressing down the fingers at places on the one or two strings. The legend that Rome burned while Nero "fiddled" is myth because there weren't any fiddles. We know from the bible (book of Moses) that people played upon lyres and drums at celebrations, but prior to written history archaeological finds do prove that a primitive music was part of many ancient cultures." Howard Wright, Bethesda, Md., space craft management: Philosophy books — I guess because of age, of accumulated problems and of worry over the state of the world.

Richard C. Brzezicki, Bordentown Township, employee of Richard Chorlton, Princeton architect: I enjoy reading nonfiction. I am particularly interested in the outdoors, about animal life, how the earth was formed, mineralogy. I enjoy reading facts, statistics seem to hold my interest more than fiction. I prefer the approach of a textbook written by an expert. When I sit down with a book for a few hours I feel I want to have learned something useful and practical, something that will add to my knowledge; I don't read for escapism.

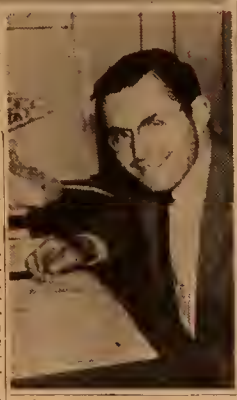
EXPANDED AIRPORT: A new 12,000-square foot hangar and numerous other enlarged and remodelled facilities are being completed by Princeton Aviation. At right, the firm's youthful president, Webster B. Todd Jr. Story, this page. (Staff Photos)



FORMAL OPENING MAY 22

For Princeton Airport. For more than six months, the Princeton Airport has been busily engaged in the process of tearing down, rebuilding and expanding its facilities. Although the proposed expansion is still not complete, the new airport will formally opened on May 22 with an all-day open house.

Included in its opening will be a free aerobatics air show, penny-a-pound rides in a variety of planes and helicopters, a display of a large number of private planes and several famous ones, including American Airlines' Tin Goose, and a formal dedication ceremony. The more stout-hearted can take their ride if they wish in an open cockpit Waco.

The air show will be held between noon and 2 p.m., according to Webster B. Todd, Jr., president of Princeton Aviation. Featured will be aerobatics by Ed Mahler in a North American AT-6, a parachute jumping exhibition and demonstrations by the New Jersey Helicopter Airways.

The aircraft displays will be open to the public all day, starting at 9. The dedication ceremonies will start at 11:30, Mr. Todd said.

Most noticeable of the extensive changes are a 3200-foot paved runway equipped for 24-hour, all-weather service and a 12,000 square-foot heated hangar and maintenance building. With its new facilities, Princeton Airport is equpped to handle the ever-expandng fleet of business planes of firms ringing the Princeton area and the subsequent number of executive flights.

To accommodate the increase in business flights, Princeton Aviation began operation this month of an air shuttle service, consisting of two flights daily to airports in the New York area, touching down at Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark.

Additional services include a 24-hour taxi service to major airports, with a free pick-up and drop-off at home or office within a five-mile radius of the airport. A limousine service to airports will be provided, if weather does not permit the flight.

Also, air freight to all points, flight training for all parties, new and used aircraft sales, maintenance and repair of aircraft, radio and engines, aircraft rental, special air tours on request and hangar and tiedown storage. For the passenger, there is a modern waiting room and complete insurance coverage. Up to 300 pounds of baggage can be accommodated on air taxi flights. Air time to Newark is 20 minutes; to Kennedy, LaGuardia and Philadelphia, 25 minutes.

The Airport is located on Route 206 across from the 206 Shopping Center — the same site as the old airport but about a quarter - mile further back from the highway. It is the largest, privately - owned airport in the state.

Hughes at Airport Opening

Governor Richard J. Hughes will be the principal speaker at the formal opening May 22 of the new Princeton Airport facilities on Route 206. The Governor's appearance will highlight a day-long open house program.

In addition, Webster B. Todd Jr., president of Princeton Aviation, announced that William Piper Sr., founder of Piper Aircraft, will also speak.

Governor Hughes will speak at 11:30 at the formal dedication services.

Research Center is Customer. "WE" in this case, means Western Electric, specifically, the Engineering Research Center in Hopewell.

Some 66 Princeton firms supplied the company with almost $550,000 worth of goods and services during the past year, and surrounding communities such as Hopewell, Hightstown, Blawenburg, Belle Mead, Cranbury, Lawrenceville and Pennington accounted for several more thousands, the company said.

New Jersey ranked fourth in the number of Western Electric suppliers, with 3,380 on the company's rolls, receiving $129.6 million from the company.

WORLD'S BEST CREW? That's how some rowing experts referred to Harvard after it broke the Carnegie course record by 20 seconds Saturday. Crimson, in dark shirts, leads M.I.T. TIGERS HIT THE ROAD

New Haven The Target. It may be Houseparty Weekend in Princeton but virtually every Princeton athletic team will be in New Haven Saturday. There are two exceptions: the track team will play host to Penn in Palmer Stadium at 2, and at 4:30 the first of three races in the Goldthwaite Cup regatta among Harvard, Princeton and Yale will be staged on Lake Carnegie.

Princeton baseball, lacrosse, tennis and golf teams and the crew with all travel to Connecticut. The first three will meet their Yale counterparts; the golfers will compete in the Eastern Intercollegiates over the Elis' home course, while the crew will row on the Housatonic at Derby against Yale and Cornell for the Carnegie Cup.

Lacrosse in the Bowl. For the first time in more than half a century, an athletic event that has nothing to do with football will be staged in the Yale Bowl. The arena which seats 80,000 will be the setting for the lacrosse game between Yale and Princeton on Saturday.

With the exception of football, the Elis would rather trim the Orange and Black in lacrosse than any other sport, because over the last 30 years they have been beaten in it so often by Princeton. They have, in fact, won only once since 1932, and of the Tigers' nine victories in the past decade, five have come in the final minute by one-goal margins. Last spring on Campbell Field, a goal in the final four seconds gave Princeton a 13-12 triumph.

The decision to play the 1965 game in the Bowl brings back memories of the meeting in lacrosse between Princeton and Johns Hopkins staged in Palmer Stadium in 1947. The Bluejays brought an 80-piece band, which staged a football-type performance at half-time — complete with Confederate flags.

This was too much for several hundred veterans just out of service and now attending a college well north of the Mason-Dixon line. It was a warm day, and beer cans by the dozen flew onto the field — most of them aimed at the interior of the tubas.

A near-riot ensued as Johns Hopkins fans raced onto the field and began hurling the beer cans back at the Princetonians. The game went into history as the last in Palmer Stadium and the last at which alcoholic beverages were permitted at a Princeton athletic contest.

Tough Games Ahead. Having disposed of the two weakest teams in the league in Harvard and Brown by not-too-imposing scores of 7 to 5, Princeton may have more than it can handle in Penn, Yale and Dartmouth. The Penn contest was staged Wednesday at Philadelphia, with Ferris Thomsen looking for revenge for the unexpected defeat his team suffered in the rain and mud here a year ago.

The Tigers always ran slightly ahead of Harvard, but never enough to be convincing. Bob Mueller again paced the Princeton attack with two goals, the victors leading 2-1 after 15 minutes and 4-2 at the half in the low-scoring contest.

CRIMSON FLASH

Harvard Crew Magnificent. A stiff tail wind helped, but no one doubted that Harvard's great crew needed it to row the finest mile and three quarters ever seen on Lake Carnegie. The Crimson covered the distance in 8 minutes and 15 seconds — a fantastic 20.8 seconds faster than the mark set by Yale seven years ago.

In leading M.I.T. and Princeton across the line by margins of seven and nine lengths, Harvard could well lay claim to being the best crew in the world at the present time. Princeton coach Dutch Shoch credits it with "starting a new era in racing," and believes that American dominance in rowing will now last for a long time.

German-type rigging was an asset in Harvard's eye-filling performance, but the principal ingredient was sheer American power blended with the rhythm that experience and good coaching provide. Only one oarsman and the coxswain from last year's boat which was unbeaten were lost by graduation, and the result is conceivably the best college crew in American rowing history.

As might be expected with all the ability that there is at Cambridge, Harvard swept the river, its junior varsity turning in the second best time of the day with a clocking of 8:42.6. Princeton was third in all three races, and anything better than that in the Carnegie Cup this weekend will be to its credit.

STREAK ENDS AT 52

Harvard Beats Tennis Team. Leading by 4 to 2 after the singles matches, Princeton was unable to take more than a single set in any of the three doubles and lost to Harvard on Saturday, 5 to 4. The Tigers had blanked Navy, 9-0, the previous afternoon to run their string of victories to 52, having won them all since a defeat at the hands of Yale on May 18, 1960.

Princeton figures to rebound this weekend against the Elis, but no one is good enough to turn back Harvard. There was some consolation in the freshman score: 5-4 for Princeton.

Track Team Loses to Yale. A 15-year old record in the hammer throw was broken by the big football tackle, Ernie Pascarella, Saturday while Princeton lost to Yale in track, 83 to 71. His mark of 172 feet, 3 inches topped by about half

How long would your savings last if disability stopped you from working?

N. L. Carnevale

PRINCETON
WA. 4-3827 EX. 4-5339

One month? Six months? You probably have insurance to cover crippling medical expenses, but what about loss of income for the time you cannot work! Where will the money come from to keep up payments on your home, your car, your furniture! It has to come from somewhere.

Why not let Manufacturers Life give you an income while you are disabled! It's as simple as that. Here is why our Personal Income Protector Plan is worth investigating.

1. It offers you wide flexibility in amount of income and the length of time it will be paid if you are disabled.

2. For example; you may be able to arrange for income benefits right through to age 65 for total disability due to sickness or for life when an accident is the cause. Accidental death and dismemberment benefits to age 65 are also offered.

3. You can co-ordinate the plan with your other resources; tailor it to your needs and your pocketbook.

4. Manufacturers Life cannot cancel the policy nor can your premium rate be raised—ever.

5. The plan can be set up to put emphasis on long term income benefits and to overcome the inadequacy of any short term coverage you may already have.

If you'd like to learn more, call your Manufacturers Life representative. He'll be glad to give you all the details.

a foot the throw that Frank Reeve made in 1950.

A lack of sprinters hurt the Tigers, who were good for only one second and one third in all three of the dashes. They won the 880, mile and two mile but dropped both relays, and that put more of a strain on their point-wining ability than it could withstand.

TIGERS LOSE LEAD

In Defeat by Columbia. For a glorious 48-hour period this week, Princeton's baseball team was in first place in the Eastern Intercollegiate League, but the Tigers could stand neither prosperity nor pressure.

Columbia knocked them out of the lead with a 4-1 victory Monday afternoon on Clarke Field, leaving Cornell and Army in a first-place tie with 2-1 records. The Tigers are now 3-2, and while the race is tight, a third loss is almost certain to eliminate them from title consideration.

Columbia beat Princeton's fine young sophomore, Graham Marcott, but the slim righthander got almost as much competition from his own team as he did from the Lions. They made four errors, two of them of the ghastly variety, and let him down completely at the plate. The only Princeton run driven in was by Marcott.

After scoring once in the third on three successive two-out singles, the visitors got the go-ahead run in the sixth. It crossed the plate when left-fielder Lynn Moore started late on a fly deep in his sector and then let the ball pop out of his glove near the fence.

In the seventh, a wild throw to second by first baseman Pete Riley on a sacrifice bunt caused most of the damage. Pitching on only two days rest, Marcott was not quite in top form but only two of the runs were earned and he would have won with no more than average support afield and at bat.

Although the Lions used a second-line hurler in Dave Hillis, Princeton treated him with constant consideration. Moore ended a third inning threat when he hit a come-backer for a one-two-three DP. In the fifth, the Tigers filled the bases with none out but two of the next three batters struck out and the other hit a loud pop foul. That was the losers' biggest threat.

BACK-TO-BACK SHUTOUTS

N.Y.U., Fordham Blanked. A one-hit, 1-0 shutout of New York University by Graham Marcott and a 6-0 triumph for Tom Scott over Fordham were recorded last weekend by Princeton's baseball team.

Marcott struck out eight, walked only two and the only hit he allowed was a slow roller to second on which the runner might have been thrown out had the second basemen charged the ball and the first baseman covered the bag. Instead, the latter had to fall down to avoid the throw that Marcott took and by that time, the grounder had been beaten out for a hit.

An unearned run in the last of the eighth beat NYU, the score coming on a single by cleanup batter Lynn Moore, a walk and a bunt by catcher Tom Peppler which the Violets' pitcher obligingly threw into right field. Eleven runners in all were left stranded by Tigers, who missed many scoring opportunities.

Scott aided his own cause at the plate, getting two of his team's nine hits and two of the six runs. A three-run second was more than he needed, four hits — two of them doubles — and a costly error at shortstop providing the tallies.

ROUND TRIP FOR HARRIS?

Coach Resigns at UNH. A successful defensive coach in football has much in common with the pitching coach in baseball whose team wins the pennant: everyone knows that the opposition has had all kinds of trouble scoring, but even the most avid fans rarely know the name of the guy who is responsible.

Last fall, Princeton's undefeated football team achieved national ranking with a record of 5.9 points allowed per game and broke a quarter-century old Princeton record when it hung out four consecutive whitewash jobs on its clothesline of victories. The Tigers limited nine opponents to 53 points and posted shutouts over Colgate, Penn, Brown and Harvard on successive Saturday afternoons.

Virtually the only way that Warren Harris, the Tigers' defensive strategist who played such a large part in hatching the goose eggs, got his name in the papers was when he left here to take the job as head coach at the University of New Hampshire. It was late January, basketball and hockey were flooding the sports pages and brief mention was made of the fact that Princeton would have a hole to fill on its coaching staff.

Because the Ivy League hasn't had spring football practice for a baker's dozen years, there was no great hurry to fill the gap created by Harris' departure. Now, oddly enough, among the possible candidates for the vacancy is Harris himself.

Sudden Departure. Three short months after he got to Durham, N. H., to take over the fading football fortunes of the state university, Harris submitted his resignation. The seasons he gave were broad, not specific. His letter to Director of Athletics James Long said in part:

"Although I believe the University has a great deal to offer any student athlete, I feel I will not be able to do the kind of job which I demand of myself."

There was speculation as to whether Harris felt the material which he needed to rebuild New Hampshire football prestige would not become available under existing admissions policy. Long agreed that rumors had spread to the effect that Harris felt UNH had not kept faith with him on some of the understandings reached when he accepted the position.

Here in Princeton, Director of Athletics R. Kenneth Fairman said this week that while several candidates for the job of defensive coach had been considered, no decision had been reached. "We understand that Harris is interested in having his job back, but we have no formal application so far," Fairman said. "If he does apply shortly, he will not be ruled out because we are already committed to someone else."

If Princeton is satisfied that Harris' abrupt departure from New Hampshire was based on logical reasons, there is a possibility that he will get his old job back. It would be a good thing, too. Off his credits from last year's championship season alone, it is hard to believe that any of the other candidates for defensive coach is better equipped to succeed Harris than Harris himself.

OVER THE TOP AT 10-6. Bill Aiken clears the bar at 10-6, the only one to do so in Friday's dual meet with Trenton High. Bill also placed in the high hurdles and broad jump to lead Princeton High to a come-from-behind victory. (Staff Photo)

TRACKMEN TOP TRENTON

For Sixth Straight. With three events to go in Friday's dual meet with Trenton, the situation facing the home team Little Tigers was this: THS had already won seven firsts in the ten events completed and held a 51-39 lead. Princeton won, 63-54.

What Trenton discovered to its dismay as have others before it, is that Princeton's strength lies in the field events, particularly in the final events to be held that afternoon — the javelin, broad jump and pole vault. The Little Tigers swept all three places in each of these events with the exception of second place in the pole vault.

The Blue and White is six deep in the javelin, each consistently hitting the 155-170-foot area. Roger Madden and Vince Boccanfuso excel in the broad jump where, on Friday, Bill Aiken, who can compete in more events and do it well than any other Little Tiger, was pressed into service. Bill would take his turn in the broad jump and then run over and compete in the vault, were he captured first place.

The loss was Trenton's third without a victory. Outstanding for the Tornadoes in defeat was Dave Bradley who won the high jump and who upset Princeton's redoubtable Jay Gallagher in the mile. The latter was probably the most exciting head-to-head match of the afternoon. Bradley's time was 4:33.1 which Gallagher had bettered twice this year.

Coming up are meets against Pennington Central Friday at 3:45 at Harris Field and the Mercer County Meet sponsored by the Jaycees in which Princeton is the defending champion. Coach Jerry Groninger revealed that he will not enter a team in the annual Long Branch relays this weekend.

Capturing firsts for PHS were Carl Giese in the 880 with a time of 2.05.1; Bart Bennett in the low hurdles — his time of 19.7 tied the school record and it marked the third consecutive time Bart has hit 19.7 (extra clocks were on him in anticipation of a new school mark); Carl DeCavalcante in the shot, 51-3; Mark Dannenhauer in the javelin, 166 feet; Vince Boccanfuso in the broad jump, 22-0; and Aiken in the vault, 10-6.

Second places finishes, which powered PHS to its victory, were captured by Madden in the 100 and broad jump, Gallagher in the mile, Aiken in the high hurdles, Andy Kulley in the shot, Joe McKee in the discus, and Craig Beachell in the javelin.

Tom Fasanella and Aiken took thirds in the javelin and broad jump to enable PHS to sweep these events. Aiken with a first in the vault, second in the high hurdles and third in the broad jump was high scorer for the victors.

PRIZE LIST RELEASED

For Pennington Horse Show. Sponsors of the Pennington Jaycees' Horse Show have made the prize list for the May 23rd event available.

The day-long show will be held at Monty Spurdle's Sunny Acres Stables in Pennington beginning at 9. The stables are located on Scotch Road off Route 546.

Six divisions of the Garden State Horse Shows Association will be included in the 24-event program. They are equitation, junior working hunter, adult amateur, open working hunter, open jumper and junior jumper.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded for each event and silver bowls will be presented for the grand and reserve champion. Cash prizes will be awarded in five stake events. Proceeds from the show will be used to finance Junior Chamber of Commerce projects.

3 COURTS RESERVED

For General Public. Three of the six tennis courts at Princeton High School are now reserved for the public on a first-come, first-served basis.

Princeton's burgeoning tennis programs caused the Board of Education to work out a schedule, approved last week, to protect the tennis-loving taxpayers. Agreements were worked out by William H. Rhodes, Secretary to the Board of Education; Mrs. Eve Kraft of the Community Tennis Program, Walter Sorg of the YMCA and Mrs. David Christiansen of the YWCA.

As the schedule stands now, courts No. 1, 2 and 3 are set aside for the public. "We've agreed that the groups using courts No. 4, 5, and 6 will not spill over into these courts," Mr. Rhodes said. "Last year, people would see youngsters playing on them and figure the courts were not available."

The organizations worked out the following schedule for Courts No. 4, 5, and 6: Monday, 6:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m., YWCA; Tuesday, 5 - 8:30 p.m., YMCA; Wednesday, 4:45 - 5:45 p.m., YWCA, and 6 - 8:30 p.m. YMCA; Thursday, 5 - 8:30 p.m., YMCA; Friday 4:45 - 5:45 p.m., YWCA, and 6:30 - 8:30 p.m., YWCA; Saturday, 9 a.m. - noon and 12:30 - 3:30 p.m., Community Tennis Program; 3:30 - 4:30, YWCA, and 4:30 - 6:30 p.m., Community Tennis. On Sundays, the Community Tennis Program has the three courts from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

The arrangement is in effect until June 30. "Then, I suppose we'll have to work out a new schedule," Mr. Rhodes says.

EWING SCORES, 1-0

Over Winless Little Tigers. Scrambling with the verve of nine Houdinis in its Thursday contest with Ewing, the Princeton High baseball team managed to extricate itself from one self-imposed dilemma after another — until the sixth when the odds finally caught up with the Little Tigers.

Typically, the game-wining break came after PHS hurler Howard Rifkin had apparently registered his third strikeout of the inning. But catcher Lou Balestrieri dropped the ball threw wildly to first and the door was open for Ewing (7-1) to score the only run of the game. It was a 1-0 final.

Softball League Expands

Twelve teams, divided into two divisions, will compete this season in the Princeton Softball League.

In the Eastern Division are Opinion Research, McGraw-Hill Warehouse, Hopewell TV, RCA II, Educational Testing and Western Electric. The Western Division consists of RCA I, American Cyanamid, Accelerator, McGraw-Hill Office, RCA Astro and Columbian Carbon.

Each team will play two games against members of its own division, and one against each member of the other division. Play began Tuesday evening, and will continue weekly on Tuesdays until 15 games have been played. The winners in each division will then meet for the TOWN TOPICS Trophy.

Sports In Princeton

The defeat was Princeton's sixth straight without a win. Inevitably, the Blue and White is going to tighten its loose play afield, will start hitting with men on base, and is going to win that first one. But so much of the edge of the current season has been taken off by those six losses that when victory comes, it may be something of an anticlimax.

The quest continues Friday at Asbury Park. On Monday, the Hun School will make the short crosstown trip to Harris Field for the first meeting between the two.

This contest was originally scheduled for April 23 but was rained out. Starting time is 3:45 p.m. Next day, PHS will travel to Steinert for a 4 p.m. contest.

Drop by Drop. The lone hero on the PHS bench during the Ewing encounter was coach Harry Zoll who showed remarkable restraint in not yielding to what must have been a powerful impulse to slash his wrists. It was that bad.

It will serve no purpose to list those responsible for the many Little Tiger miscues. They ranged from A to Z, including missed signs, getting picked off first, and not seeing a fly ball at all. Most of this ragged play did not appear in the scorebook as errors, such as the opening play of the game when Princeton's second baseman, shortstop and centerfielder congregated to watch a short pop fly drop among them.

Rifkin Pitches Well. Howard Rifkin, a senior making his first start of the season, pitched fairly well. He seemed at his best as he worked free, unscathed, from repeated jams. He struck out seven and walked only two and had he had a little more support at the plate from his teammates, might well have walked off with his first victory.

Unfortunately, Rifkin hooked up with Ewing's Johnny Smallwood who is one of the top hurlers in the county. Smallwood struck out nine, walked two and gave up only two hits — one to Curt Schaefer and one to Gil Turner — to win his fourth without a defeat. His strikeouts raised his total to 48, and he has not allowed an earned run in five mound appearances. He defeated PHS, 4-0, earlier this spring.

The losers had two opportunities to tie the score. In the sixth, Ken Ward walked, stole second and advanced to third when Curt Schaefer got on on a throwing error. Paul Walstad grounded out to end the threat, however.

In the final frame, Ed Hull reached second on a two-base throwing error. Ed Decker ran for Hull. Turner then hit a chopper to the infield which the Blue Devils, aided by some inept PHS baserunning, turned into a game-ending double play.

Thus the game ended as it began for the Princeton — on a sour note. This current Little Tiger squad is much better than its 0-6 record indicates, and it must be distressing to Zoll and its followers to watch it beat itself time and again.

2,415 Dogs in Show

The 46th annual Trenton Dog Show will be held Sunday from 8 to 8 on the 112th Field Artillery Armory Grounds on Eggerts Crossing Road off Route 206.

More than 2,400 entrants will be in the event, making it one of the largest in the East. It is expected that more than 100 breeds will be exhibited and 15 Breed Clubs from throughout the United States and Canada will participate.

Mrs. Lynwood Walton is the chairman of the show, assisted by Dr. Armour C. Wood and Mrs. Emma Stephenson. Admission is $1.50 for adults and $.50 for children. Free parking will be available.

HORSES TO COMPETE

For Pine Brae Honors. The Pine Brae Club will hold its fifth annual horse show beginning at 6:30 on Sunday, May 16. Proceeds from the event will go to the United States Equestrian team which represents the country at the Olympics.

There will be 38 classes of competition in the show to be judged by Mrs. Austen Wright, Anne Voorhees and Louis Robertson. Roy R.Butterworth is the co-chairman and M. J. Lombardo is the honorary chairman. Mrs. S. A. Russo Jr. is the secretary-treasurer for the event.

Pine Brae is located on Route 518 between Route 206 and Blawenburg. Prize lists for the show, which is sanctioned by the American Horse Shows Association, are available by calling Mrs. Russo at 924-5101.

Dutch Neck rolled to an 11-point margin in the Tri-County Firemen's League as an even dozen bowlers equalled or surpassed 200 pins for single contests. The leaders have a strong hold on first place with Lawrenceville, 55 points, Kingston, 54, and Mercer Number 3, 52, fighting for the runner-up slot.

Leading the individuals was Barry Duvall with games of 232 and 213 and a series high of 612. Others were Mike Koplliner 225; Stanley Donald, 216, Walt Coan, 215; Ray Mount, 213; Bill Duvall, 211 and 208; Don Drift, 207; Caddy Cashill and Bucky Cupples, 205 each; Bill Whatley, 202; George Kirby, 201; and Ken Luck, 200.

Dick Fowler had a 278 for single-game honors and Bill Penelli had the high series, 636 as a result of games of 214, 232 and 190. In a week of exceptionally high scoring, Jerry Perpetua bowled a 265 and a 620 series and Bill Bathie had a 246 and a 628 series. Other high scorers: Jim Kahny, 226; Ed Dayton, 225; Bill Cavanaugh, 222; Bill Dumble, 220; Jack Petrone, 215; Earl Farley and Fred Procaccini, 213 each; Jack Lucey, 211 and 202; Claude Pinelli, 210; Frank Cawley, 203 and 204; John Baldino, 203; and Ed Hoffman, 200.

The Tigers have 40 points in the YMCA Blue Angels League and lead the Wildcats by six points. Ken Grob bowled a 189, one more pin than Tom Wood scored and eight more than Craig Donaldson got in his best game.

John Balestrieri and Jack Lucey tied for third place in the gross score division of the New Jersey State Bowling Association doubles tournament. Balestrieri bowled games of 179, 163 and 196, while his partner recorded scores of 166, 222 and 230.

Ready for trouble before it strikes
(one of the secrets of providing dependable electric service)
We could wait for a lightning storm to cause damage and then start working on repairs. But we don't. We start getting ready before it hits. Thanks to a unique electronic warning system we know when a storm is approaching. Storm-activated indicators, strategically located throughout our service area, pick up danger signals when a storm is many miles away. This is part of the system we use to mobilize our forces in advance when trouble is approaching. It costs money. It takes time and effort. And occasionally the standby emergency crews we call on are not even used. But this is one more way we can guarantee dependable service to you — and one more reason why you can Live Better . . . CONVERSATION PIECE

Everyone's talking about Westwood Square. Rightly so.
In all of Trenton, only Westwood Square gives you an elegant home — on a spacious lot — in an established community.

You enjoy these extra features —
Garage, fireplace, top-grade vinyl floors, full basement, beautiful tile, aluminum casement windows, a complete quality point job, deluxe oven, range and dishwashers — at no extra cost.

Your children romp on a huge 125'x150' lot in a peaceful, private area surrounded by estates and golf courses. Yet, with such serenity, you're only 3/10ths of a mile from the highway and just 10 minutes from Trenton.

Indeed, Westwood Square is truly something to talk about . . . and certainly something to see. Come, visit the model homes this weekend.

Sample homes open every day 10:00 a.m. 'til 8:00 p.m. 883-3334

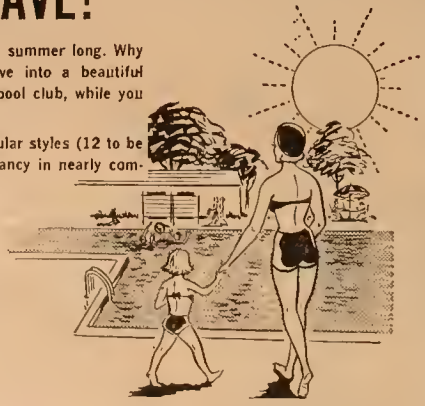
MOVE IN NOW AND SWIM AS YOU SAVE!

Don't swelter in an apartment or inadequate home all summer long. Why wait for new home construction when you can move into a beautiful Brooktree home this spring. Enjoy your own private pool club, while you save rent and recreation money.

Brooktree has a select few executive homes in all popular styles (12 to be exact) ready for late spring and early summer occupancy in nearly complete Subdivision 3.

We pushed construction of these beautiful residences — several on choice wooded sites — to complete our division 3 production schedule. The saving can be yours, so visit Brooktree East, the established Princeton area executive community this weekend. They won't last long.



ALL SEASON LONG . . . SWIM — DON'T SWELTER!

Brooktree residents enjoy charter enrollment privileges in the new Brooktree Swim Club right from date of purchase. It's the perfect place for warm weather fun for all the family. So think it over. You can enjoy the home you've dreamed of all summer long while others swelter . . . and get in the swim too. Come talk it over this weekend.

CONVENIENT for the regular commuter . . . here is a meticulously cared-for home in one of our pleasant neighboring communities. Nice view of fields and woods. Living room with fireplace, playroom, 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths. And when Summer comes (it won't be long!), you'll be delighted with the large, cool screened porch. $22,500

CENTRAL AIR-CONDITIONING . . . comfort and an unusually liveable floor plan distinguish this fine home, located on a beautifully wooded lot in one of the Township's most attractive neighborhoods. Large living room with fireplace, dining room, playroom, 3 bedrooms and 2 baths. There is also an extra room downstairs which could be a study or a 4th bedroom. (Sole Agent) $38,500

RED BRICK COLONIAL . . . in all of Princeton, perhaps, no residential enclave surpasses Brookstone for charm and privacy. On a two-acre plot, this fine home has a vast living room with fireplace, dining room, a big all-electric kitchen with a paneled family room adjoining, and maid's room and bath on the first floor. Upstairs: master bedroom and bath, 3 other bedrooms and 2 baths. Every detail of construction, including solid plaster walls and authentic Colonial woodwork and hardware, will impress you who know a bit about good housing. $69,500

MANOR HOUSE . . . this superb old Colonial dwelling is one of those places that everyone who dreams of living in the country would like to own. Only twelve minutes from Princeton, in real farming territory, it stands under magnificent shade trees, behind the log driveway that curves up to the front door. Inside, the beautiful living and dining rooms, the cozy paneled library, the very modern kitchen, the delightful game room with its bar, and its 6 bedrooms and 4 baths — all this lives up to the promise of luxurious living which strikes you when first glimpse the place. You know that it must have plenty of land for privacy, and it does — 33 acres, approximately . . . But you get the surprise of your life when you stroll out of the vast living room and into the indoor swimming pool annex. In its own brick structure, 60 feet in diameter, the heated pool is big enough for a platoon to splash in. And the flagstoned terrace around the pool has enough space for them to sit and feast on steaks from the enormous built-in barbeque. (Sole Agent) $175,000

BUILDING LOT . . . here is an opportunity not often available in Princeton Township—woods, 1½ acres, city water and sewer, ready for your architect to begin drawing plans. (Sole Agent) $19,500
